George H. McClure Died
as Result of Heat

George H. McClure, aged about 30, feeling very well. He retired about 10 o'clock last night and at 5 o'clock this morning his brother was awakened by some sound or movement. He spoke to George and received no answer and being unable to wake him he summoned Dr. James B. Hoban. The man was dead when Dr. Hoban arrived and the doctor summoned the medical examiner. On the death return giving the cause of death the medical examiner wrote "heat stroke."

BEER PARTY BROKEN UP AND FIVE ARRESTS MADEA Number of Offenders Appeared in the Police Court This Morning

A social gathering, where the beer flowed very freely, was held at 62 Middlesex street Saturday night, but the pre-arranged program was not carried out, owing to the arrival of a squad of police on the scene, who entered without any invitation and broke up the party and gave four women and a man a ride to the police station where they were booked for drunkenness. They gave their names as follows: James E. Adir, Annie F. Brunnelle, Ellen Johnson, Catherine F. Grimshaw and Margaret Traverses.

The quintet was arraigned in police court this morning on complaints charging them with being drunk. Adir was ordered to pay a fine of $3. The Brunnelle woman was also fined $2. Ellen Johnson was sentenced to two months in jail and Catherine F. Grimshaw and Margaret Traverses were each sentenced to three months in jail.

Music in the Air
It is said that "music hath charms" but it all depends on what kind of music it is and also the mood in which people are. Therefore when a sextet tried to enjoy themselves in a house in Prince street about four o'clock yesterday morning some of the neighbors objected to being rudely awakened from their slumbers and notified the police. Patrolmen E. E. Hill, Gillis, Drowett and Gennell were sent to the house and upon entering found two men dancing and four playing various instruments. The men were sent to the police station, where they gave their names and ages as follows: James Peckos, 27, and Christos Paris, 27, who were dancing, and James Roubas, 19, James Kolos, 27, John Dixomates, 25, and Christos Palantz, 30, who made up the orchestra.

The six were arraigned in police court this morning on complaints charging them with dancing on Lord's day and through their counsel, John W. McEvoy, entered pleas of guilty. They were each fined $2.

Heavy Fine Imposed
Samuel Kaplan appeared in court this morning to answer to a complaint charging him with the larceny of $5 in money from George Ramos. He was in court on the same charge several times previously and pleaded not guilty but this morning he changed his plea to guilty and the court imposed a fine of $25. It is alleged that while Ramos was passing through the south common on the night of the Fourth, Kaplan placed his hand in Ramos' pocket and relieved him of $5.

Neglected His Wife
In the case of John J. Sullivan, charged with neglecting to provide for the proper support of his wife, Agnes, the court found the man guilty and gave him a suspended sentence of four months in jail.

Peddling Without a License
Joseph Storbeck of Boston pleaded guilty to peddling cloth without a license and a fine of $12 was imposed.

Withdrew Their Appeals
Wilfred Aubrey and Angeline Peple who last week were sentenced to three months in jail after being found guilty of adultery and appealed, appeared in court this morning and withdrew their appeals.

Cases Continued

Wilfred Champagne was charged with the larceny of a pair of shoes valued at $3.50, the property of Joseph Maynard. At the request of Major Noyes the case was continued till Wednesday.

The case of Alfred C. Heald, charged with non-support of his wife, was continued until the 25th of the current month.

Adolphus Dhuve pleaded guilty to being drunk, but inasmuch as a case of assault and battery is to be brought against the man the government asked for a continuance until tomorrow morning and the court granted the request.

Drunken Offenders

There were many drunken offenders in the dock and while some escaped with fines others received jail sentences.

John J. Jordan, charged with being drunk, was sent to the state farm. Catherine Barnes was sentenced to two months in jail and John J. Reynolds was given a suspended sentence of three months in jail.

John O'Brien, Joseph H. Smith, Alfred White, Michael McDonald, Louis H. Cheney, Thomas Keating, Thomas Johnson, Michael Holey and Frank McManimon were fined $5 each. Patrick McGowan, Andrew Berry and Patrick Kirby, Sunday drunks, were fined $5 each.

There were several first-offenders who were fined $2 each and 11 simple drunks were released.

KENNGOTT'S BOOK

WILL BE REVIEWED IN TOMORROW'S ISSUE OF THE SUN

Tomorrow the Sun will print some extracts from Rev. George F. Kennigott's book, "The Record of a City," and will give some reasons why the book should not be introduced in the schools of Lowell. Every parent in Lowell, being interested in this matter, should read the article very carefully and then exert their influence upon the proper authorities to prevent this book from being placed in the schools for perusal by the children or for any other purpose.

Business men who have the interests of our city at heart and particularly the members of the Board of Trade, who are laboring to promote those interests, should read this article in order that they too may use their influence to save the city from the great injury that may be done to her reputation and standing, to her people and her schools by any official endorsement of this book. See the review in tomorrow's Sun.

BIG STRIKE IN NEW BEDFORD IN 11 SILVER WEDDING OF
COTTON MILLS TODAY--13,000
OPERATIVES IDLE

NEW BEDFORD, July 15.—Textile operatives in eleven cotton cloth mills in this city struck today to enforce the demand of the weavers for the abolishment of the grading-fines system. The strikers gathered about the gates of the mill against which the strike is directed and made a noisy demonstration. There was no violence of any kind reported during the first few hours of the strike.

The corporations affected by the strike were the Acushnet, Booth, Bristol, Dartmouth, Gesnold, Grinnell, Hathaway, Pierce Bros. Ltd., Pierce Manufacturing Co., Potomaska, Wamsutta.

These corporations employ an aggregate of about 13,000 operatives. It was estimated by observers at the mill gates that more than half of the operatives remained away from the mills. All of the unions have not yet joined the strike as they are awaiting official sanction from their national organizations before quitting work.

The machinery in the mills was started at the usual time today and many of the weavers and loomfixers, whose work is dependent upon the operation of the looms, were on hand when the gates opened. When they found that the notice announcing the establishment of the grading system had not been removed they promptly left their looms. As the weavers and loomfixers emerged from the mills they were cheered by the crowds that were waiting outside.

With the single exception of the weavers' union, which is an independent organization, all of the craft organizations represented in the mills are affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. These craft organizations include the spinners, the carders, the loomfixers and others. There are also about 1,200 operatives who are members of the Industrial Workers of the World and who have voted to declare a general strike against the mills.

There is also a large proportion of operatives who are not members of any labor union, but who ordinarily follow the lead of the union workers. The textile industry in New Bedford is conducted by 30 corporations operating 2,933,264 spindles and 53,880 looms in 67 mills employing 21,000 operatives. Some of these mills manufacture yarns only while others are not affected by the strike because the notices announcing the establishment of the grading system either have been removed or else were not posted.

The 11 corporations against which the strike has been declared contain 1,145,060 spindles and 33,953 looms in 31 mills, employing nearly 13,000 operatives. The grading system, against which the weavers protest, establishes different prices for first and second grade work and replaces the fining system under which the weavers were fined for every imperfection in the cloth woven on their looms.

The total estimated weekly payroll to the twelve mills affected is $100,000. Although the strike today was confined officially only to the weavers, the loomfixers and the Industrial Workers of the World operatives, many of the workers belonging to other craft unions remained away from the mills.

The carders' union planned to hold a meeting tonight to take action on the question of striking and a meeting of the spinners' union will be held tomorrow for the same purpose.

Up to 10 o'clock there had been no reports of any disorder growing out of the strike. As a matter of precaution a large force of police was on duty near the various mills. It was generally believed that there would be no outbreaks before the other unions had taken action on the matter of declaring a sympathetic strike.

BARRETT SAVED $6,970.66
IN THE FIRE DEPT. ALONECommissioner Furnishes Figures and Promises More Interesting Ones Later On

Aprons of the discussion, editorially and otherwise, of the first six months of the new city government and what it has accomplished, Commissioner Andrew E. Barrett comes out with a statement having to do with fire department expenses and figures showing that the expenses for the first six months of the present year were nearly $7000 less than for the corresponding months of last year, a saving of more than $1000 a month. The comparative statement is appended:

FIRE DEPARTMENT EXPENSE
	1911	1912
January	$2576.53	$2391.99
February	2331.11	1073.32
March	2703.53	1857.54
April	2977.52	1427.74
May	4594.67	1320.56
June	1916.79	1557.13
Totals	$16,576.16	$9578.30

Total saving in first six months of 1912, $6970.66.
"I see," said Commissioner Barrett, "that certain ones await a report on the progress of reform by the new government and the public has a right to expect such reports. The figures having to do with the fire department I happened to have close at hand and I will have some others later on. The pay roll of the fire department will be less, too, from now on than it was last year. Retrenchment would have been shown in the pay roll for the first six months but for the fact that the twenty-five cents a day granted the firemen did not take effect until July 1, 1911, so that any comparison in the pay roll for the first six months of the two years, 1911 and 1912, would be unfair to me, as the firemen have been receiving twenty-five cents a day more than they were receiving for the first six months of last year. Now, however, the pay roll is on an even basis with last year and I will endeavor to show a saving."

EPIDEMIC OF DIPHTHERIA IS FEARED IN THIS CITYMost of the Cases Reported Are in Franklin Street and Vicinity

There are several cases of diphtheria in Lowell at the present time and it is feared that it may become epidemic. The board of health was congratulating itself because of the few cases of contagious diseases during the hot weather but the board didn't know that diphtheria was on the way. A majority of the cases are in

Franklin court and vicinity. Eight cases have been reported within the last two days, and the doctors are busy on cultures. One doctor has already said that he fears an epidemic. In all cases discovered antitoxin has been freely used and houses have been quarantined. The board of health does not fear an epidemic and says that the number of cases reported is not large enough to be absolutely alarming. Dr. C. E. Simpson represents the

MR. AND MRS. THOMAS MOSS.

They Were Presented With Some Beautiful Gifts by Knights
of Sherwood Forest

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Moss of 77 Gorham street quietly observed their 25th wedding anniversary at their home yesterday. During the day a number of their friends called and offered congratulations. In the afternoon Mr. Moss was tendered a reception and presentation by the members of the Talbot conclave, Knights of Sherwood Forest. The affair took place at the regular meeting of the conclave, of which Mr. Moss is a highly respected member. He is a past commander of the organization and a member of Court Shields, F. of A.

The meeting was held in Liberty hall, the headquarters of the Knights. The latter after opening remarks introduced as the principal speaker, Mr. A. Kelly, head of the conclave. Mr. Kelly spoke of the work done by Mr. Moss while he was in the position of commander and how he endeared himself to all the members by his excellent personality and gentleness, and that now when he and his wife are observing their 25th anniversary the members felt that the time was most opportune to manifest their appreciation for his work by presenting the happy couple a gift that would serve as a reminder of the occasion and also demonstrate the esteem in which the couple are held by their friends.

The speaker then called Mr. Moss to the front and presented him a beautiful cut-glass punch bowl and 25 pieces of silver. Mr. Moss was taken completely by surprise, but found words to thank the members of the order for the gifts and the speaker for his complimentary remarks. Among those present were the following officers of the Foresters: Past Grand Chief Ranger Henry McManus of Etelberg; William H. Stafford, and the four deputy grand chief rangers, Albert McDougall, Narcisse Gadois, David Gerow and John Barrett.

Mr. and Mrs. Moss were married at Actonville, Province of Quebec, on July 14, 1887, by Rev. Fr. George Warr, and came to Lowell on their honeymoon. They remained in this city since the execution of one year when they went to Salem. While in the latter city a child was born to the couple but lived but a short time. They then returned to Lowell and have since resided here.

Mr. Moss has been employed in the Lowell Machine Shop founded as a moulder for many years and is very popular with all his fellow employees. He has been connected with the Foresters for a number of years and has always taken an active part in all the workings of the different courts. The conclave is composed of the leading Foresters and he was one of the first members elected to the order.

Miss Goldman's home last evening and a number of her friends assembled and assisted in making the party an enjoyable one. A musical program was carried out and refreshments served. At the conclusion of the pleasant affair Miss Goldman departed wishing the popular young lady a very successful and pleasant trip to the metropolis.

A number of Lowell people left today for Nantucket, where they plan to remain for the summer. Mr. and Mrs. David McCoy, the former a popular employee of the baggage office at the Boston & Maine depot, are rejoicing over the arrival of a 10-pound son, which visited their home at the corner of Smith and Liberty streets yesterday noon. The proud father avers that the youngster will be the next successor to the baggage master and his fellow employees are of the same opinion unless the present incumbent joins the breakers.

Several of the morning trains were quite late this morning owing to the heavy travel. The baggage and freight into the depot was exceptionally large for a Monday and the men were kept on the jump all morning.

EMPEROR WILLIAM MAKES STRONG SPEECH

Relative to the Situation
in Morocco

BERLIN, July 15.—Emperor William has just made a speech designed to curb the too aggressive spirit of those Germans who wanted to see the German flag raised over a part of Morocco last year. This speech, which was made at a public reception at the Hamburg Hotel, was directed to the German public and was intended to show that the emperor was not in favor of a policy of aggressive expansion in Morocco. The emperor said that the German flag in Morocco was not a sign of aggression, but a sign of peace and friendship. He said that the German flag in Morocco was a sign of the German people's desire to live in peace and friendship with the people of Morocco. INTERESTING FIGURES ON VOTING STRENGTH

Prepared by British Minister of Education

LONDON, July 15.—John A. Pease, minister of education, long chief liberal whip and therefore an expert on registration, was put by the government to introduce the promised reform and registration bill, the effect of which would among other things be to abolish plural voting and to increase the number of voters in the United Kingdom by some 2,500,000.

It is on this bill that the government has promised to give facilities for the introduction of an amendment to grant to suffrage to women on the same terms as to men. This amendment, however, will not be a government one, and members are to be left to vote as they like on it. As the present house of commons has already declared itself against votes for women, the amendment has little chance of passing. In fact, the bill itself has very little chance of reaching the statute book, with some rule and Welsh disestablishment and it has hardly time enough to discuss those two great measures.

The bill has been introduced in keeping with three promises made by the prime minister. The first was to his own supporters to do away with plural voting, which it is generally admitted constitutes most of the badholders who have these plural votes casting them against the liberals. This promise can be kept without the passage of the present bill, as another bill with the same purpose has been introduced by a private member and has already passed in commons. The government can redeem the first of Premier Asquith's promises.

The second promise was, if there was time, to remove the difficulties which the present law places in the way of registration. This can also be carried out in the private bill.

The next promise was to the suf-fragists, to give facilities for the introduction of an amendment giving votes to women. This will be carried out; but, as it will be opposed by leaders on both sides of the house, it is not likely to get further than an introduction. This would finally dispose of the matter in the present parliament. Then the reform bill will be laid aside, unless, of course, something unforeseen happens, and the liberals will get rid of plural voting by private bill and in the same way secure the passage of any of their franchise proposals that they consider vital.

The bill introduced by Mr. Pease is of far-reaching effect. By it the value of property as an element of qualification would cease and every man of 21 years of age, with six months' residence or occupation in a constituency, could have his name placed on the register without all the red tape which makes the English system the most cumbersome in the world. For example, under the present system, if a man removed from one house to another in the same street, he automatically lost his vote and could not get on the list again until a new one was being prepared, which might mean a year. Under the bill just introduced it is a matter of a few minutes to transfer a voter's name from one house to another, and a voter always remains on the list, and is not subject to the chance of address. There are many other anomalies that would be removed.

These changes meet with the approval of all, but there are other clauses in the bill besides the abolition of plural voting, which the conservatives bitterly oppose. The abolition of university representation, which would reduce the votes of their party in the House of commons by nine, is objected to on the ground that the university constituencies are the only ones where an educational qualification is required. This reduction of the membership of the House of commons, with the 61 ridges away, the home rule bill, and the new membership of commons, with the rule for Scotland and Wales, which liberals now look forward to, the house would become a still smaller one numerically.

As a slight solatium for the loss of plural votes, the peers, who heretofore could not vote, are given this privilege with all other "mates of 21 years of age having a residence or occupation" in the constituency. This does not however, carry with it the right to sit in the House of commons.

The bill would repeal all the present elaborate paraphernalia of franchise laws, registration courts and revising baristers. It would repeal in entirety no fewer than 28 statutes, and partially repeal 41 other acts of parliament.
Mr. Pease quoted some interesting figures showing the effect of the measure in operation as follows:

Present parliamentary elec- torate	7,984,600
Loss by abolition of plural voting	525,000
University voters disfranchised	49,614

Effective total	7,409,986
Total males over 21 years in United Kingdom	12,022,000
Male voters	7,109,936

Male adults who are non- voters	4,622,014
------------------------------------	-----------

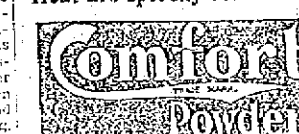

Of these, unfranchised
males in his estimation
that the government bill would give the vote to about 2,500,000.

Number of women in the United Kingdom	12,250,000
If votes are given to women on the same terms as men under this bill, the number of women placed on the parliamentary register would be	10,500,000

The government has pledged itself to introduce a redistribution bill as soon as the effect of the proposed reforms on the size of the constituencies is ascertained.

STRIPED MATERIALS POPULAR

Striped materials this summer are in fashionable favor. As a rule, stripes are more becoming than figured designs or even plain fabrics, for they give length and slenderness, the two most sought after effects this season.
There is no hard and fast rule as to the size of the stripe, and it is astonishing how many different widths there are in the season's materials. Often different widths of them are used in the same gown.

Black and white is most effective, but there are also colored stripes that are smart which are in one tone of color, but in different shades, or two completely contrasting colors that until now would never be thought possible for the same pattern. Two shades of color in blue, in ecru, in green and yellow are among the novelties that have worked out well.

Striped foulard silks are among the favorites this summer, the white and black and the black and white being the most liked. The white and black, as can be easily understood, looks much lighter than the black with white stripes, the advantage in favor of stripes is that the material requires little trimming, for the stripes in themselves are so effective that there is no monotony, and the rule is to use the material in such manner that these stripes can be cut out at right angles with each other in bands or folds. Occasionally—and this is one of the very best fads—white or mar-quisette is combined with striped foulard. It is a charming combination when cleverly carried out.

GOODALE'S DANDELIO IS MUCH IMITATED BECAUSE VERY POPULAR---HOW TO TELL THE GENUINE DANDELIO.

Goodale's Dandelio has grown so strongly in public favor that at many fountains where the original is not served, you will be offered imitation "Dandelion Beer" with the assurance that it is "just as good as Dandelio." BUT IT ISN'T. One drink will convince you of that fact. We want to warn the public against these imitators.

Genuine DANDELIO is served always in iced mugs bearing Goodale's name, or from bottles plainly labelled "Goodale's Dandelio." It is bottled in Lowell only by Boyle Brothers, who sell it in case lots at $1.00 for 12 bottles.

W. FIFTH ST. BAPTIST CHURCH WAS STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

WEST FIFTH STREET BAPTIST CHURCH.

Great Damage Was Done to the Steeple and Church Sexton Was Stunned

In the short but severe storm which passed over the city yesterday morning lightning caused havoc at the Baptist church in West Fifth street, when a bolt struck the steeple and almost demolished it. The janitor had a very narrow escape from death, as he was just leaving the temple when the bolt struck it. Fortunately he was not injured, although he was thrown to the ground and stunned.

The bolt entered the steeple, ripped off a large portion of the shingles and timber on the Bridge street side of the church, bulged out the opposite side, broke all of the windows in the front part of the building, and then jumped to the ground, tearing open a large hole as it entered the earth.

The crash shook the houses of the neighborhood terribly, besides being felt in several sections of the city. Frank Cram, the sexton, had been in the building a few seconds before the bolt struck, and was walking out of the door when the lightning flash, followed almost immediately by the clap of thunder, threw him to the ground. He was stunned momentarily, but later was able to get to his home.

Inasmuch as the pastor, Rev. F. A. Macdonald, is away on his vacation, the services yesterday, which were held despite the accident were conducted by Rev. J. T. Carlyn of the Central-ville M. E. church.

LIFE'S DISAPPOINTMENTS

About the same time a bolt of lightning entered the home of Mrs. Mary Craig and family at 258 Lakeview avenue and threw several people to the floor. It entered the rear part, near the door, and following through the partitions, passed out through the front, but fortunately did not cause any damage.

MUSICAL PROGRAM

WAS GIVEN AT THE FRENCH-AMERICAN ORPHANAGE

Over 500 people gathered at the French-American orphanage in Pawtucket street last night, and thoroughly enjoyed the musical program which was given by the little orphans and local talent. The spacious grounds had been beautifully decorated for the occasion and here and there were electric bulbs which afforded great light all over the place. The booths and tables in charge of well known parishioners did great business during the evening and all in all a splendid evening was spent.

The entertainment program consisted of vocal selections and recitations by the orphans, comic songs by Mr. George Labranche, and chorus selections by St. Joseph's church choir under the direction of Mr. Frank Gourdau. Miss Georgina Bolvent presided at the piano. The entire affair was in charge of Rev. Joseph Blais, O. M. I.

NO BANQUET YET

AND LINCOLN SCHOOL BOYS WANT TO KNOW WHY

The Lincoln grammar school ball team won the pennant in the school league and by so doing are entitled to a banquet and medals, which as yet the members have not received. Capt. Hugh Garity and his "men" are waiting for the word to assemble and partake of the edibles and one of the youngsters, who is planning to stay away on his vacation has postponed it several times in anticipation of the affair. Now the boys are of the opinion that the officials were only "kidding" and have practically abandoned all hope.

Various Ways of Keeping Cool When the Mercury Hunts Top of the Thermometer

HUNDREDS ARE HOMELESS AS RESULT OF CLODBURST

A Number of Deaths Are Rumored
and the Property Loss is $1,500,000

DENVER, Colo., July 15.—Several hundred men, women and children are homeless, a number of deaths are rumored and $1,500,000 worth of property is in ruins here as the result of a cloudburst, which resulted in the overflow of the shallow bed of Cherry creek through this city from 10 o'clock until midnight last night.

The big city auditorium today is a refuge camp. At dawn 500 of the homeless were gathered there and fed by the city. Twenty-five children, whose parents may have been lost, are in the care of a police station.

After directing relief and rescue work all night Mayor Arnold organized relief parties to begin the search of the course of the flood which is a trail of wrecked dwellings and other debris heaped in the current of the South Platte river.

The chamber of commerce has opened a relief subscription.

Had it not been for a note of warning sounded over the telephone from an unknown source to the city hall just before the crest of the flood reached the city many could not have escaped death. Many fled in their night clothes and that many more were caught in the flood while sleeping is the general belief.

In two hours' hard rain the streets and sewers were flooded, the tramway lines were out of commission, hundreds were marooned in the parks around the city and 50 miles of city roadway was destroyed. Then came a fall of four hours during which the car lines were returning to schedule.

At about 8:30 last night the cry of a warning of the coming flood reached the city hall. Within thirty minutes a wall of water many feet high descended on the city from Cherry creek.

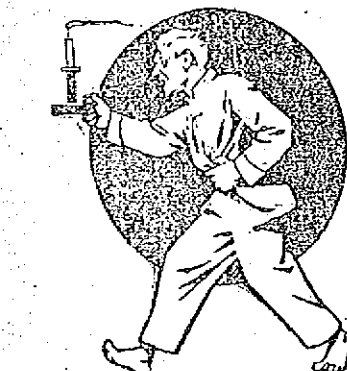

Not until the telephone and telegraph lines are restored today will the full extent of the ravage be known.

AN IMPORTANT POSITION

Digging Up Stars for the Major League Teams

You, Mr. Fan, did you ever realize where all the new ball players come from every year and how they are discovered? Well, they are found by the baseball scouts who travel the country over in search of new talent. And this same job of scout or gum shoe man is a mighty important job in these days of keen competition.

ing them up impartially. Having been in baseball a great many years, I am usually able to tell whether a man has the "goods," even though he may have playing faults, which, to the fans, make him seem an ordinary player.

"Watching a game I frequently see such a man. His position and movements in batting may be wrong. He may not run properly or effectively cover his position, but if he looks as though he might learn (some never can, you know) I go to him after the game and tell him how he might improve his work. Usually ball players on the small teams have the faults because they never were told that there was anything the matter with their playing. When the trouble is pointed out, however, they usually try to correct their style. After giving such a man a couple of lessons, I go away for a few weeks, and upon my return, if I see the player has corrected his style and his work is improving, I watch him further. If, on the other hand, I find him playing just the same as before I move on to the next stop and begin all over again.

"There are many reasons why I believe our system of getting players is the best. With major league baseball organized as it today, I don't think it is good policy to get star men at fabulous prices, for there is nothing to assure you that the new find will play harmoniously with the men you already have. The chances are better with a young player, for by getting him early you can gradually break him into the style of play the team is using. This feature of baseball is today more important than ever before, and it is accordingly more important that the new material shall take right sort of stuff. Some times it takes a couple of years to break a recruit in, but if he finally arrives the time is far from lost.

"Most scouts do not average a new player a year, so there is some truth in the assertion that if a scout succeeds in finding and developing one big star during his career his record is looked upon as a good one. Sometimes it takes a scout a long time to get what he is after. Pittsburgh tried for twelve years to get a good first baseman. It took the St. Louis Americans ten years to get a third sacker that was satisfactory. Detroit had six men scouting last year.

DE GROFF LEADS THE N. E. LEAGUE In Batting With Average of .360

De Groff still retains his claim as the real leader of the batters of the New England league, with the mark of .360. In the 360 batters Lowell has five, namely: De Groff, Halstein, Clemens, Lavigne and McGamwell. In all the other departments Lowell is strong.

DRACUT

The residents of Dracut are talking of holding another special town meeting relative to the establishment of a branch library in Harmony hall, Colinsville. The action which had been taken at the regular town meeting last March, in which $500 was voted for that purpose, was rescinded at a special meeting held a short time ago, and now the residents of that part of the town are agitating for another meeting by which they hope to gain their point, which they claim would only be reasonable.

FOR WOMAN AND HOME

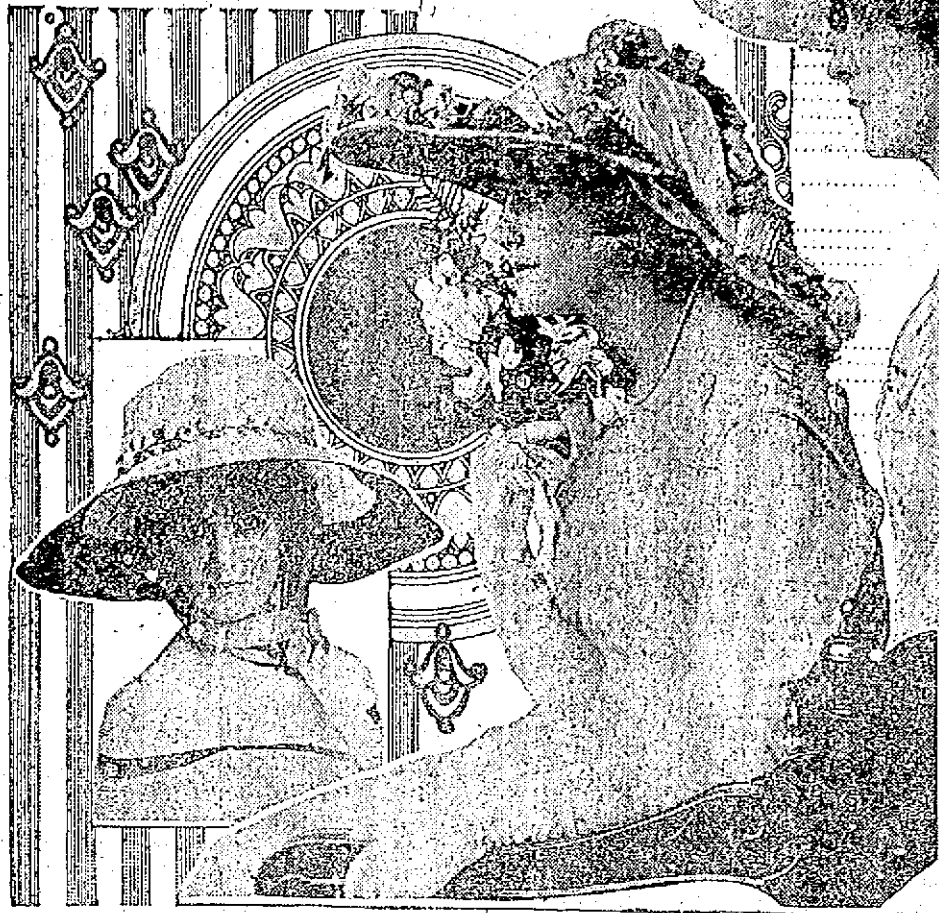

SOCIAL GOSSIP
FEMININE LOREThe Big Becoming Hats of the Midsummer Season
Are Attracting the Attention of the Women

Midsummer hats are immense. They are veritable wheels and actually much larger than the wheel of a perambulator. Much of their effectiveness, however, depends upon the angle at which they are pinned upon the hair. It is not always easy to succeed with this angle. There should be laws of latitude and longitude supplied by the milliners, whereby the purchasers of their creations might learn the exact angle which the brim should bear to the line of the eyes. This little attention would put an end to much of the disappointment which arises upon putting a "dear of a hat" upon one's head for the first time at home.

Big, low crowned, drooping brim shapes, all in straw or in straw with velled in black chantilly are effective, as are the facings of color—rose, for example—velled by softly shirred black tulle or chantilly, the outside of the hat being trimmed in a great bow or ruche of the lace.

A stunning big leghorn hat trimmed recently by a clever girl had its brim covered with her grandmother's chantilly black lace parasol top, the old fashioned carriage parasol tops that were not much larger than a 1912 picture hat. The centre of the lace cover was cut out sufficiently to fit about the low round crown and spread out over the wide drooping brim. Heading the lace ruffle was a careless twist of natter blue velvet ribbon, topped by a wreath of tiny pink roses without fol-

age. The effect was very faintly and girlish, and the cost was a mere trifle. With this hat was worn a charming little frock of natter blue voile over white silk, and the usual French touch was contributed by the black velvet sash.

Speaking of natter blue coloring, the chic Watteau picture hat to be seen among the cuts is of this shade of blue and apricot pink, combined with white. The crown of pin tucked batiste and lace is mounted on a drooping rim of lace, finished at the edge with a broad facing of natter blue straw. This wreath of small silk roses is in shades of apricot pink and gray green, the pink predominating and two of the flat "tomato" roses are caught in the softly knotted streamers of blue and gray shot taffeta ribbon. This hat was designed for a dark haired and blue eyed maid. The natter blue brim facing deepens the blue of the eyes, while the inner brim facing of lace throws the wavy dark hair into relief.

Big hats faced with flowered pompadour silk or velvet with roses clustering under the brim are very smart this summer. One of these models is pictured faced with jovy velvet, with a single handsome plume as the only trimming.

But perhaps the most eccentric large hat of the season is called the admiral. This nautical piece of headgear is nothing more than a simple shepherdess shape, the fore and aft trimming giving the sailorlike suggestion. The hat is made of jovy taffeta, trimmed with plain taffeta plaiting and the oddly arranged wreath of roses. Though most women are fond of the drooping brim which shades the face so flatteringly, the newest of the mid-season shapes have their brims lifted. The latest model with an uplifted effect is the flange brim. This hat has for a foundation a cap of leghorn which fits the head snugly. Over this is a gathered full of shadow lace, stiffened with a wire hoop at the edge and lifted flange fashion, to show a cluster of flowers tucked under the loops of lace. This hat accompanies a frock of striped taffeta, with which are worn long embroidered silk gloves and buttoned boots of white buckskin.

In smart millinery each face is carefully studied so that the beauty of its features may be enhanced by the sweep of the brim, and the shapes and colorings of most of the hats of the season are exquisitely lovely.

TO TAKE CARE OF BEDS AND BEDDING

To keep good health it is very necessary to sleep well and comfortably so every housewife should make a point of attending carefully to the bedding.

If the mattresses have become hard and bumpy, the buttoning loose or the ticking very soiled, they should be sent to the shop to be made over.

In ordinary cases, where it is possible, take the mattress out of doors and lay it over a line, beating thoroughly on each side with a carpet beater.

Then spread some newspapers on the ground and lay the mattress flat upon it and with a fairly stiff brush remove all the dust and "stuff" collected under the leather disks which button it down, finally brushing all round the edges where it is bound.

Pillows should be beaten in the same way, and to keep the tick clean and in good condition try sewing over the pillow an old pillowslip, which may be removed as soon as it becomes soiled. In spite of having the ordinary pillowslip over it, it is surprising how soiled the undercover becomes, while it is far easier to wash this than to clean the whole pillow.

Whether you use iron or wooden bedsteads, they should be thoroughly looked over every spring and cleaned by wiping with a damp cloth wrung out of warm water. Take plenty of time over this work and attack every crevice and corner where dust is likely to settle. Some housewives make a practice of lightly painting over the under portions of the bedstead with turpentine, while others place camphor or wipe naphtha between the mattresses.

It is easier to clean a woven wire spring with a stiff, dry brush, but if a wet treatment is preferred wash it over with a little warm water and soap and remember to stand the spring upright in a current of air, so that it may dry quickly and not rust.

As the weather gets warm and the blankets are discarded make a practice of washing one or two each week until each bed has been cleared.

The blankets on the guest room bed will probably not need washing, but these should be hung over a line in the sunshine and gently beaten or shaken.

A USEFUL REMINDER

A coarse scrubbing brush near the kitchen door is the best sort of shoe cleaner for muddy weather.

Put glycerine on the meat grinder. It is a lubricant and does not taste in the food, and it is not harmful.

Mildew will go away from curtains if they are soaked with clean water and rubbed with laundry soap and then coated with table salt. Then hang in the sun. Repeat the performance until the stains are gone, although, if they are bad, it may take several treatments.

A pinch of borax in the water with fresh flowers will make them last longer. Salt can also be used for the same purpose.

THE NEW WRAPS

For daily wear in summer as well as winter, with morning and sports of all kinds, one must have a cloak at hand. There is a shape which has found many supporters, inspired a little by the garments worn by Italian peasants, hanging loose from the shoulders and forming a point in the centre of the back and having a cape cut in one. All these garments fasten on the left side.

HANGER FOR GOWNS

Cut a piece of heavy cardboard seventeen inches long and eight inches wide and shape one side of it like a coat hanger. Now punch a small hole in the center one inch from the top and tie a piece of ribbon or tape through it to make a loop to hang it on.

In the lower edge make two holes six inches apart and either insert large safety pins or sew in hooks to hang the skirt of your gowns to.

This makes an inexpensive and very satisfactory frame to hang your summer lingerie or linen frocks and waists upon, keeping them fresh for a long time after they have been ironed.

These hangers may be padded with raw cotton and covered with fancy silk or flowered silk. A delicate sachet powder sprinkled over the cotton adds greatly to their attractiveness and performs the gown as well.

LOWELL TEAM WON BOTH GAMES FROM WORCESTER

Scores 4 to 1 and 8 to 3—Pfeffer
Won His Game and Owens
Was in Fine Form

Lowell defeated Worcester in both games of the double header Saturday afternoon, making three straight victories from the Busters in two days. There was a very large crowd on hand and the two games were closely contested, the scores being first, 4 to 1, second, 8 to 3.

Two former big leaguers worked in the first game. Pfeffer, formerly of the Boston Nationals, was on the mound for Lowell, and Big Jack Bushelman, late of the Red Sox, did the heavy lifting for Worcester. The former cast-off from the big show did remarkably well and had on his opponent in all ways. Bushelman worked hard to win, and Jesse was confident that he would pull off the victory, but the Lowell men got to his shoats and he was defeated for the first time since his return to the New England league.

In the second game, Owens in the box for Lowell, was in grand form and outpitched Hale, who did the "honors" for the Busters. Andy had everything and allowed Jesse and his band just an even half dozen hits.

Halestein continued to bang the pill, and in the two games he got five hits. His fielding was also of the apple pie order. Dee and Wolfgang, the substitute infielders, played fine baseball, and in fact the Lowell men played like they did last season when they copped the flag. The scores:

THE MANHATTANS OUTCLASS SO. ENDS IN BASEBALL GAME

Score 12 to 2—Sharkey Pitched
Remarkable Game—Buckley
Made Great Catch

The South Ends, who went all season without being defeated, received one of the worst beatings ever given an amateur baseball team in this city in a championship game, when they met the Manhattan team at Spalding park Saturday afternoon. The score was 12 to 2, which explains the comparative strength of the two teams. The boys from the South common were completely outclassed from the start, and with Sharkey on the mound for the team representing the Manhattan club, there was nothing to it but the boys from the far grounds.

The game was for a purse of $200, and was witnessed by one of the largest crowds that ever attended a semi-professional ball game in this city. There was considerable enthusiasm, and the rosters of both teams were equipped with cowbells, fishbones, etc., and the latter were frequently heard during the progress of the game.

From the first inning the South Ends were beaten, but in justice to Manager Lyons and his boys it must be said that they put up a fine battle against great odds. Sharkey pitched regular league baseball and his shoats broke in great style. His exhibition on Saturday would do credit to any New England league twirler and his work should be watched by Manager Gray or some other league manager.

One of his victims was the fast "Billy" McMahon, who for the past several years has played league baseball, and is still a very good man. McMahon of the South Ends at second base, connected with one of Sharkey's benders and dropped it in center field for a two bagger, but in trying to stretch it into a triple, went out at third on a fast play, Buckley to Grant.

The performance of Buckley and Sharkey, who played in the big money game here Saturday, should be "inspired" by some of the league managers. Both played remarkable baseball, and the pitching of Sharkey was much better than that handed out by many of the professionals at the park this season.

up. Ducharme fled to Brennan and Grant came home. Harris singled and Buckley countered. Exit Mr. Curry. Devlin then warmed up and Cashman hit to McMahon and went out at first for the third out.

The Manhattan got two more in the third on hits by Marcotte, Clark, Buckley, a walk to Sharkey and an error of the South Ends. In the fourth inning the South Ends got their second and last run on the clever base running by Young Roane. In the seventh the Manhattan got their other two runs, when Clark took first on Gallagher's error and scored when Grant hit to the left corner of the grounds for a home. A fast double play stopped a fine chance for the South Ends. In the seventh, McGreevey opened with a peach of a two-bagger to left. Brennan fled out to Harris, and Gallagher ended the inning when he sent a line drive to Ducharme and the latter sent the ball to Grant who got McGreevey off the base.

In the evening the Manhattan celebrated their glorious victory by parading the streets in a large barge, with red fire, fish horns, cow bells and other noise provoking instruments. The score:

THE CITY CHAMPIONSHIP
Saturday's well fought battle between the Manhattan and the South Ends, in which the latter went down to an ignominious defeat, has aroused a loud protest from the far famed Groves against the Manhattan claim to the city championship. Inasmuch as the South Ends, who until Saturday had upheld their reputation as the city's undefeated baseball team, were wholly unable to make a satisfactory showing before the hard battling and superior skill of the Manhattan lineup, the latter feel that they have won a notable victory over the many semi-professional teams throughout the city, and have already under way plans for a big event in the near future, wherein to celebrate in a fitting manner what they, as well as their host of friends and admirers, look upon as a magnificent triumph. The Groves, however, who have been life-long adversaries of the Manhattan on the diamond, contend that the claim to the city's championship has by no means been decided. This contention is based on the fact that some weeks ago a big game, to decide forever the rival claims of the Manhattan and the Groves to the championship, had been arranged to take place at the Sacred Heart parish picnic and field day, to be held at the Knights of Columbus grounds, Tyngsboro, on Saturday, July 27th. That the result of this contest will be the decisive victory is unquestioned. Never before have the Groves been able to put forth such a splendid lineup as that with which they intend to wrest the trophy, and being regarded as the Manhattan in the midst of their admiring friends at the Sacred Heart picnic, that have been identified with so many notable victories, while affiliated with the T. R. & T.'s of North Billerica, will once more give an excellent account of themselves is anticipated.

The Manhattan's great triumph of Saturday and the possibility of fathering the trophy, being regarded as a surrender their laurels to the Groves, as a result of the great game scheduled for the 27th, has aroused additional interest in the coming game, and as there is no other game of any importance scheduled for Lowell and vicinity on that date, it is expected that thousands of enthusiastic fans will be on hand at the Genoa club grounds, to witness what will assuredly be one of the most closely contested games of the season.

The lineup of the Groves is as follows: Doyle c, Hall p, Murphy 1b, Allen 2b, Jenkins ss, Linnehan 3b, Lynch lf, Quirk cf, Brennan rf.

HENRY F. SULLIVAN SWAM TO BOSTON LIGHT

Lowell Boy Was Second and Covered the Distance in 6h. 21m. 36s.

BOSTON, July 15.—Not only was the swim from Charlestown bridge to Boston light made yesterday in record time, but it was notable for the endurance shown by one of the swimmers and the fine racing between some of the others.

It came near being marred by a fatality, for Annie Morecroft, who was trying to swim independent of the contest, collapsed off Fort Strong and was rescued unconscious by a boat's crew from Fort Warren, which happened to be near.

The swim was for four prizes offered by the Pilgrim A. A. Sam Richards, Jr., of the Brookline Swimming Club, Henry F. Sullivan of the Lowell C. Y. M. L., John Bray of Revere and Augustus Wise of Boston were the only ones of the 30 swimmers who started at 10 yesterday morning who succeeded in reaching the white beacon in Boston harbor.

At the second time that Richards has accomplished the swim and he made the distance in 5h. 15m. 40-45s., considerable faster time than it has been done in before. Under the Australian, was credited with doing it in 5h. 35m., but there has always been doubt about his having made the swim properly.

Wise displayed the most endurance, he swam more than eight hours in the water and for 1 hour and 45 minutes he bucked the flood tide in order to reach the goal.

John Bray has tried several times before to make the swim and each time had to leave the water when the light was in sight.

Sullivan was never before in salt water, but on the Merrimack river he has done remarkable swimming. Only last summer he swam from Lowell to Manchester, N. H., about 21 miles.

Wise has competed in only one long swim before. Last year he won second prize in the race from City Point to Spectacle Island.

Annie Morecroft sinks
As a side issue to the swim, William Shaw of Rochester, N. Y., who is doing high diving under the name of Diplo, dived from the top of the Elevated railroad structure on the Charlestown bridge into a basin in the pier. The distance is 80 feet, but he had to clear about 12 feet of walks in order to land in the basin.

He made a pretty dive and suffered no bad effects.

Annie Morecroft, who has aspirations to swim the English channel, tried independent of the race to make the swim to the light yesterday. It was her intention if successful to sail for England and try the channel swim.

She dived from the pier of the bridge at 9:15, when the tide was near the end of the flood, and started down the harbor alone, despite the thick fog which hung over it.

She was off Fort Strong about 2:30, when Capt. Hogan of Fort Warren, who was close by in a boat, noticed her turn on her back and sink. When she rose to the surface the men in the boat grabbed her and pulled her in. She was unconscious and they rowed to Long Island, where she was rushed to the hospital on the island. The physician soon revived her and last night she had about recovered.

It was 10 o'clock when Benny Osthues lined the 30 swimmers up at the end of the pier in the following order: W. J. McAllister, Brookline S. C.; John Bruff, E. Y. M. H. A.; Henry F. Sullivan, Lowell C. Y. M. L.; Joe O'Connor, Riverside B. C.; Henry J. Miron, Medford B. C.; W. D. McAllister, B. P. O. S. C.; George Sheldon, E. B. S. C.; C. J. Cooke, Quincy Y. M. C. A.; Louis Coppola, Boston; Dr. Addison Beardsley, Roxbury; W. R. Gaffney, Providence; Augustus Wise, Boston; John O'Donoghue, Revere; William J. Walsh, Revere; Tony Ruggiero, Boston; Wil-

Ham Lagerberg, Dorchester; J. O'Leary, Cambridge; John J. Bray, Revere; A. Souther, Jamaica Plain; Ed Gunderson, East Boston; George Meehan, Brookline S. C.; Roger Hartnett, Cambridge; John T. Everett, Charlestown; Yorke O'Connell, Charlestown; Frank J. Doyle, South Boston; A. MacNeill, Acme A. A.; Sam Goodman, Revere; John Hanley, Somerville; Ernest Williams, Riverside B. ANNUAL REPORT OF BOARD OF HEALTH

It Contains Some Very Good Advice for Housekeepers—Suggestions for Keeping Milk

The annual report of the board of health for the year 1911 is fresh from the press. Most of the departments have printed 2500 copies of their annual reports but the board of health contracted for only 500 copies.

The following extracts from the report will be found of great value to the housekeeper at this particular season of the year. The suggestions have to do with the keeping of milk:

Milk should be the only food of infants under one year of age. If the cow, the milker and the utensils in which milk is received and kept, are clean, and the milk is kept cold—below 50 degrees Fahrenheit—milk should go into the home in a clean and healthful condition. Milk is one of the most perishable of all foods. If milk is kept in a warm room when received in the home, it will rapidly turn into a poor food even before it goes sour. Therefore it should be placed on an ice immediately upon being received and kept in the coolest part of the house.

Cheap Ice Box

This is not an expensive procedure, nor is a refrigerator a necessity. The Phipps Institute for the treatment of tuberculosis employs a method of keeping milk at cost of two cents per day, which can be used by anyone. It consists of a soap box, or similar box, in the center of which is placed a kettle or can, which is deep enough to cover the neck of the milk jar. The space about the kettle is packed with sawdust. The jar of milk is placed in the center of the kettle, and two cents worth of ice is placed in the kettle about the jar. The box is then covered with a clean, heavy cloth of several thicknesses.

Care of Milk After Jar is Opened

When it is necessary to remove any of the milk for use, the jar is wiped off with a clean cloth, the cap is carefully removed and the amount of milk needed is poured out. The cap is then replaced or a clean glass placed over the top of the jar, and the jar again put into the box. In this way the milk can be perfectly preserved until used.

Cleaning and Care of Milk Jars

After the jar is emptied, it should be rinsed in cold water and then thoroughly scalded with boiling water, and turned upside down in a clean place until called for. Inset upon it that the milkman removes his jars each day, and use milk jars for any other purpose than holding milk.

Care of Refrigerators

If a refrigerator is used for keeping milk, always have it swept and cleaned. It should be inspected at least once a week. See that the outlet for melted ice is kept open and that the space under the ice rack is kept clean. The space in which other food is kept should be scalded at least once a week with a washing soda solution. A single drop of spoiled milk or a small particle of spoiled food will contaminate a refrigerator in a few days and cause the milk to take on a disagreeable taste.

Here's a little something about sewers that may be interesting in view of the fact that the recommendations made by the board of health of this year have not been carried out. The recommendations in question had to do with sewers emptying into the Merrimack river and money was appropriated to abate the nuisance by extending the sewers out into the channel. The report reads as follows:

On July 6, 1911, the following communication was received from the city engineer:

"At a meeting of the committee on sewers, held Wednesday, July 5th, the condition of the Merrimack river between Pawtucket falls and Hunt's falls was discussed. Between these points a number of sewer outlets empty into the river, and for this reason, in the opinion of the committee, bathing and fishing within these limits should be prohibited.

With this idea in mind, the committee on sewers voted to recommend to the board of health that the proper authorities be notified, so that some action may be taken in the matter."

The board of health made a tour of inspection of all outlets of sewers entering into the Merrimack river, and on July 22, 1911, the following communication was sent to the mayor and city council:

"At Tuesday afternoon last, July 15, the board of health made a thorough inspection of all outlets of sewers entering into the Merrimack river, and on the whole the board found all sewer outlets to be in a deplorable condition. Many of the said sewers emptied upon dry ground at a distance of from 20 to 100 feet from the river; others emptying into the river leaving an open space of from five to six feet. The board in its investigation, with perhaps two or three exceptions, found almost every sewer outlet exposed. The conditions surrounding many of these sewer outlets were disgusting, and emitted foul and noxious smells which were a source of great annoyance to occupants of property within the vicinity of said sewers.

The board believes that the sewers entering the Merrimack river at the foot of Broughton avenue, Fulton street, West street, Beaver street, Camp street, Ottawa street, Alter street, Wentworth avenue, and Alford street, under the bridge, are a nuisance, a source of filth, and a danger to the public health.

The board believes that the city of Lowell should immediately take measures to abate this nuisance, and particular attention given at once to the Broughton avenue, Fulton street and West street sewers, also the sewer under the Alford street bridge, and have these nuisances abated at once. These sewers, in the opinion of the board, should be extended far enough out into the channel of the Merrimack river that all noxious matter should be carried down the stream, and not be exposed, as conditions are at the present time during low water, and it is therefore moved that the attention of the city government should be called to the fact that the outlets of these sewers are a nuisance and dangerous to public health, and said nuisances should be abated."

As nothing was done in response to this letter, on Aug. 11th, a legal notice was served on the mayor, ordering him to abate this nuisance at once.

TYPOS MEET

DISCUSS IMPORTANT MATTERS AT REGULAR SESSION

A well attended meeting of the Lowell Typographical union, 310, was held at the rooms of the organization yesterday afternoon.

Secretary Fred A. Spauld read his report for the past month, which showed that the union is making rapid progress, as it is now the fifth largest in the state. An interesting report of the delegates to the recent convention at Providence was given by Cleveland K. Nobles. Interesting remarks were also made on the convention by Delegate Fred Spauld and ex-presidents W. Edward Turnbull and Harry Mozley.

Several other reports were read and accepted from delegates to the allied organizations. Several suggestions relative to matters of interest to local printers were made by the members.

The resignation of W. H. Kennedy as a member of the Trades & Labor council was accepted, and the vacancy will be filled at the August meeting.

The American Marathon Team That Took Part in Classic Event at 'Stockholm

STOCKHOLM, July 15.—The United States was well represented in the famous Marathon here. This picture shows the racers on the Finland, on which they made the voyage. They are: 1, Lewis Tewanima, Carlisle Indian school; 2, Strobino of New Jersey; 3, Joseph Bracken of the Missouri Athletic club; 4, Joseph Forshaw of St. Louis, who ran third in the Olympic Marathon four years ago; 5, Clarence H. DeMar, North Dorchester Athletic association; 6, Harry Smith of New York; 7, Richard P. Piggott of the Boston Athletic association; 8, Thomas H. Lilley of the Boston Athletic association; 9, John J. Reynolds, Irish-American Athletic club, New York; 10, Andrew Sockalexis, Oldtown, Me.; 11, Michael J. Ryan, Irish-American Athletic club; 12, John J. Gallagher, Jr., Yale university; George Brown, the father of Marathon racing is standing behind the upper row of runners.

SO. AFRICAN WON MARATHON HIS COUNTRYMAN WAS SECOND

Matt McGrath of New York Won the Hammer Throw in Easy Manner

STOCKHOLM, July 15.—Although America fared none too well in leading places of the marathon, the big event on yesterday's program at the Olympic games, the day did not pass without the Stars and Stripes floating from the staff denoting a first place won by Matt McGrath, the husky New York weight thrower, hurled the hammer far beyond his rivals and won the event with a heave of 179 ft. 7 1/2 in., only a short distance behind his world's record.

The marathon proved the usual grueling test and was won by the So. African, K. McArthur, with his countryman, C. W. Gitschaw, in second place. The third position came to Gaston Strobino of South Paterson, N. J., a practically unknown American, who ran one of the noisiest races ever seen, and waded up through the large field in the last part of the grueling. Andrew Sockalexis of the North Dorchester (Mass.) A. A., the favorite among the Americans here, came in fourth, with John J. Gallagher, the next American, in seventh place at the finish. Michael Ryan, winner of last year's Boston A. A. Marathon, dropped out at the 13th mile.

American in Relay
The other American runners who finished in the first twenty were: Joseph Erbe, Missouri A. C. St. Louis; eighth: Richard P. Piggott, North Dorchester A. A.; ninth: Joseph Forshaw, Missouri A. C.; tenth: Clarence DeMar, North Dorchester A. A.; 12th: Harry J. Smith, New York; 15th: Louis Teranima, Carlisle school; 17th: Thomas Lilley, North Dorchester A. A.; 18th. Thus it may be seen that 10 out of the first 20 to finish were the American darlings of the breast.

In the trial of the 1500-metre relay race, the American team won its best easily and should win the final, which will be held tomorrow.

McArthur Never Yet Beaten
The winner of the classical marathon was K. McArthur, a tall Transvaal policeman, who has never yet been headed in a similar event. His compatriot, C. W. Gitschaw, came second in the stadium, several hundred yards behind, and third to appear was the American, Gaston Strobino, of the South Paterson A. C., who put up a brave fight than most of the runners, for his feet were skinned and bleeding and he was suffering great pain.

The times as announced were: McArthur, 2 hours 33 minutes; Gitschaw, 2 hours 37 minutes 42 seconds; Strobino, 2 hours 38 minutes 42 2/5 seconds.

The Americans certainly gave a death blow to the theory that the athletes of the United States are better in contests which require quickness and agility than in tests of endurance. While 20,000 spectators, who were grilling on the stadium seats, strained their eyes toward the archway from under which the runners emerged, they saw the American shield on the breasts of six of the first ten men who entered.

THE LOWELL SUN

JOHN H. HARRINGTON, Proprietor
SUN BUILDING, MERRIMACK SQUARE, LOWELL, MASS.
Member of the Associated Press
THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

THE PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN

The campaign for the presidency will not assume its final form until after Colonel Roosevelt has held his convention and completed the organization of his Bull Moose party. Nevertheless, we do not expect that the Roosevelt "convention of one" will cut much of a figure. Already it appears that most of Roosevelt's influential followers have gone over to Wilson, and the stampede is still going on. Every day brings new accessions, not only from the Roosevelt camp but from that of President Taft. It seems as though the republican party was about to go out of existence, so complete is its demoralization from one end of the country to the other. It would appear that Senator La Follette will come over to the Wilson camp if he continues in his present course of denouncing everything Rooseveltian and much of the old stand-pat element.

All this is a matter for general gratification on the part of the people throughout this country, because during the past twenty years the republican party has been instrumental in oppressing the people and piling up new burdens with every succeeding administration until at the present time conditions are intolerable.

The trust evils have their root in the tariff law enacted during the incumbency of President McKinley. The great combinations of the country wrote their own schedules in that tariff law, and this gave rise to other combinations the largest and most oppressive the world has ever seen. They were all bent upon robbing the people through the special privileges granted them in the iniquitous tariff law.

The Dingley law which followed the McKinley law was not much of an improvement; in some points it was better and in some worse. It confirmed a system that gave the trusts and combines a free hand.

The republican party under Roosevelt promised tariff revision downward, but in stead of keeping its pledges with the people, the party violated its pledges and revised the tariff upward. Thus all the trust evils and speculative combines were encouraged to continue the legalized system of public plunder in which they were engaged.

The cost of living has gone to unprecedented bounds. The people cannot any longer bear the burdens imposed upon them, and they must now rely upon the democratic party to bring about the necessary reforms. Fortunately that party has nominated its strongest candidate, a man who commands the respect of republicans as well as democrats; a man who is in every sense a progressive and that means the repression of republican methods by which the people have been robbed. It means the inauguration of a new system of government in which the rule of the people will be supreme, and in which business must be done upon a competitive basis with the special privilege under which the people have been fleeced effectually eliminated.

At the present time the outlook is, that Wilson will be elected by the largest majority received by any president since the Civil war. The people have the destiny of the country in their own hands, they are the sovereign power, they have felt the oppression of special privilege and now is the hour of their opportunity. If they vote for Wilson the oppressive policies of the republican party will be reversed, competition both foreign and domestic will be restored and then every enterprise will have an equal chance while the people will be protected against the various forms of monopoly, fraud and imposition that have been openly practiced with the approval of the republican party.

STRIKE IN NEW BEDFORD

New Bedford is to have its turn with a great mill strike and the announcement will bring all the professional agitators to the scene of battle and prominent among the number of course will be the national leaders of the I. W. W. This organization at the present time is not very strong in New Bedford, but many of the operatives will now probably respond to the call of the leaders to enter the ranks of the organization that falsely or otherwise claims the credit of winning the great strike in Lawrence.

The issue involved in this particular strike is the graded fining system. The New Bedford mills turn out very fine fabrics in which the slightest imperfection seriously affects the value. If the operatives are allowed to work as fast as they please regardless of imperfections, the quality of the output must naturally suffer. The profits of the mills might thus easily be wiped out. One would suppose that the mills would be fully justified in charging the weavers and other operatives for the imperfections found in the finished fabrics. The trouble comes, however, in ascertaining just who is responsible for some of the imperfections. The weavers are fined, but they in many cases are not to blame, as the fault may lie in the yarn and be traced to the spinner. Thus the problem has its difficulties and there is much to be said on both sides. The weavers want the fining system abolished and are willing that any operative who does not do his work in a satisfactory manner shall be discharged. The companies could not adopt the latter method for if they did they would soon reduce the number of their skilled help.

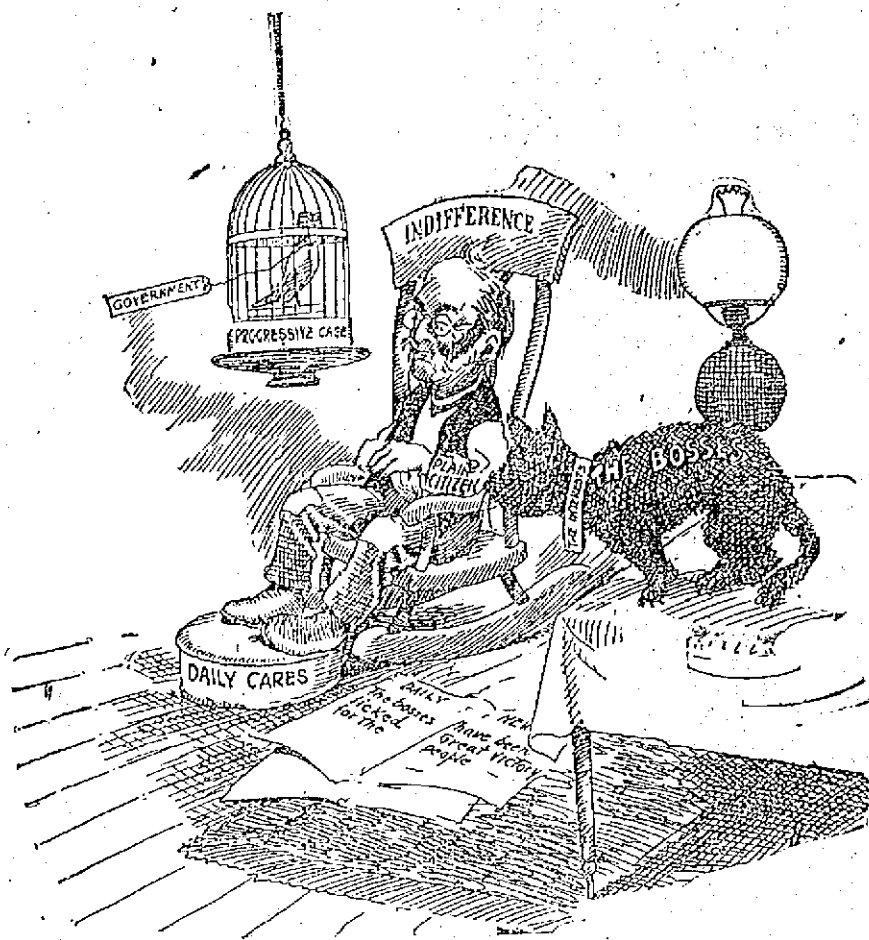

The mill employees are determined that the fining system shall go; but if it does, some other method must be adopted to ensure reasonable care on the part of the operatives.

EXPRESS RATES REDUCED

After a long investigation the interstate commerce commission has ordered a reduction in express rates that will be of great benefit to small dealers and private parties who wish to order small quantities of goods from a distance. The high rates upon small packages for many years past has eaten up a large portion of the profits of the dealers who could not maintain a central office for repacking in large cases. Most of the large stores in this city have houses in Boston in which they gather up a number of small packages into one case and thus save part of the charges which would come on the individual packages. The cases are then shipped and paid for by weight, the total costing only a fraction of what would have to be paid if each parcel were sent separately. The small dealers cannot do this and accordingly they have to pay the regular charge on every package. This has been a great hardship and it is one of the reasons why there was such a demand for the trolley express system. The reduction of 15 per cent in express rates will be welcomed by merchants and dealers throughout the country.

This is the first attempt to break the monopoly that has been maintained by the express companies in a combination almost as close as if it were one single company. The express companies will try to defeat the reduction; but as the interstate commerce commission has full authority it is expected that its order will take effect at the time appointed which is next October. If the commission would now proceed to remove some of the freight extortion practiced by railroad corporations it would more fully deserve the gratitude of the people.

A hot flatiron will separate postage stamps that are stuck together, or you can send them by mail to pay a bill.

After you have told secrets over the telephone, don't be surprised if everybody knows them.

The right time to admit a wrong action is before it is found out.

The man who makes the government weather maps would feel very bad, no doubt, if he could hear the comments of a woman up country who tried to cut out a waist by one.

If you can laugh just as heartily when the joke is on you as you do when it is on the other fellow, you may be a good hypocrite.

It is said that anyone can be an editor. All an editor has to do is to sit at his desk six days in the week, four weeks in the month and 12 months of the year and "edit" such stuff as this: "Mrs. Jones of Lost Creek let a can opener slip last week and cut herself in the pantry."

"A mischievous lad of Matherton threw a stone and struck a companion in the alley last Tuesday."

"John Doe climbed on the roof of his house last week looking for a lead, and fell, striking himself on the back porch."

"While Harold Green was escorting Miss Violeta Wise home from a church social Saturday night a savage dog attacked them and bit Mr. Green on the public square."

"Isaac Trimmer was playing with a cat Friday when it scratched him on the veranda."

"Mr. White, while harassing a branch south Saturday, was kicked just south of the corner!"—Norman E. Mack's National Weekly.

One day a pastor was calling upon a dear old lady, one of the "pillars" of the church to which they both belonged. As he thought of her long and useful life and looked upon her sweet, placid countenance, hearing but few tokens of her 92 years of earthly pilgrimage, he was moved to ask her: "My dear Mrs. S., what has been the chief source of your strength and sustenance during all these years? What has appealed to you as the real basis of your unusual vigor of mind and body, and has been to you an unfailing comfort through joy and sorrow?"

"The old lady thought a moment, then lifting her eyes, dim with age, answered briefly: "Victuals."

The man who refuses to see the evil of his way has just that much farther to travel back.

A PLACE IN THY MEMORY
A place in thy memory dearest!
Is all that I claim
To pause and look back when thou hearest

The sound of my name!
Another may woo thee nearer,
Another may win and wear;
I care not though he be dearer,
So I am remembered there!

Remember me not as a lover,
Whose hope has been crossed,
Whose bosom can never recover
The light it hath lost!

As the young bride remembers the mother,
She loves, though she never may see,
As a sister remembers a brother,
O! dearest, remember me!

Could I be thy true lover, dearest!
Couldst thou smile on me!
I would be the fondest and dearest
That ever loved thee!

But a cloud on my pathway is gloom-
ing
That never must burst on thine.
And heaven that made thee all blooming,
Never made thee to wither on mine.

Remember me then O! remember,
My calm light, dear live!
Though bleak as the blasts of November.

My life may here prove:
That it will, though lone, be sweet,
If its brightest enjoyment should be:
A smile, a kind word when we meet
And a place in thy memory!

—By Gerald Griffin.

SOME TIMELY VERSES
Come out to the shore of the frozen lake,
In the sharp and bracing air.
Clamp on your skates, on the smooth,
clear ice.

And glide o'er the glistening glare,
With a laugh and a shout and a gay halloo,
Add a share to the skaters' mirth,
For the Frost King reigns, and his icy sway

Preys o'er the frozen earth.

Or bundle yourself in your wraps and furs,
And come to the waiting sleigh.
How the jingling bells fill the frosty air.

As the horses dash away!
The snow lies deep, and its white expanse
Contrasts with the sky's clear blue—
(And it may be this hasn't cooled you off.)

But we've done what we could—for you!
—Somerville Journal.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Patrons of this theatre will no doubt be pleased to know that the management has succeeded in securing the services of Edgar Foreman and Company for a 2nd week's engagement. Mr. Foreman made a decided hit during the past week in his sketch "The Highflyer" and with the assistance of Miss Lillian Orr created a most favorable impression on all who attended. His offering for the present week will be a comedy playlet called "A Duel of Hearts," in which both are seen to excellent advantage. These who have witnessed Mr. Foreman's culture repertoire pronounce this one the most entertaining and cleverest in every way. It is a bright and happy mixture of comedy and song that combines in making 30 minutes of most amusing entertainment. The piece will be adequately staged.

De Grant and MacClemman are known as "Those Comedy Boys," and their act is a leader in its class. This pair has an excellent line of humor, including bright stories and songs, cleverly handled by both.

Max Holden is a shadowgraph artist whose work is indeed clever. Those who have seen his act are unanimous in their opinion that it is clearly the best of its kind in present day vaudeville.

Miss Alice Bagley, the well-known vocalist, will be heard in new illustrated songs. The photographs for the first three days of the week will again include some of the biggest and best picture productions from the leading foreign and American manufacturers.

There will be dramatic offerings, comedy sketches and views that are instructive as well as entertaining. Remember that it's always cool and comfortable at this theatre and the show is continuous from 1 to 10.30 p. m. daily.

LAKEVIEW DANCE HALL

The best dancing floor within twenty-five miles of Boston is what you enjoy if you visit the Lakeview dance hall, for the surface there is as smooth as glass and is properly cared for by an expert. The music, too, compares with any rendered in this vicinity, and many novelty numbers are being introduced with excellent success. One of the most pleasing dances at the hall is the "Moonlight Schottische" and as the management of the hall is ever ready to accept suggestions several requests that the "moon dance" be continued and for their benefit and also for others, this week the lights will be lowered and the large open face of Mr. Moon will illuminate the hall during the rendition of several numbers. John X. Myers, the hall soloist, will give several new ones this week and as the trip to the park is one of the best rides on the railway system especially on these hot evenings the dancers should take advantage of the opportunity to dance where the surroundings are ideal and the facilities adequate.

THE KASINO

Up on the hill where the breezes blow, through the hall the dancers go sliding along as you know, on the smoothest of floors—The Kasino. Yes, dancing under ideal conditions is the attraction which the Kasino management has provided for Lowell people, and evidence of appreciation is found in the presence of thousands of people, young and old, afternoon and evening. Two concerts are given daily, in which Roscoe McDaniel and James H. Buckley are the concert soloists, and the opening dance, afternoon and evening, is free to all. In response to a popular demand, Old Timers' night will be repeated on Wednesday. This means a program embracing the old time melodies both in the concert and for dancing.

has done more than anyone or anything else to make "The Parish Priest" a standard American drama, but the facts remain nevertheless that the play is the thing and the beauty of the piece itself and the delightful comedy that lends itself so gracefully to the plot of the play is as pleasing today as when Mr. Sully toured the world with this as his vehicle. The Majestic Players will offer "The Parish Priest" as the play for this week at the Lakeview theatre when this capable and popular company will appear to advantage in the various roles of the play.

MAN WAS KILLED BY FALL FROM CAR

His Head and Body Were Terribly Crushed

A sad accident occurred on the railroad tracks near the Walker street crossing Saturday evening, when Frank Cornelissen, aged 32 years, of South Boston, was run over and killed by the Manchester, N. H., and Boston express train, the accident taking place about 6.30 o'clock.

Cornelissen who is a cigarmaker and a member of the Boston local of the International Cigarmakers of America, accompanied by George W. Norris of Maynard, also a cigarmaker, left Manchester Saturday for Boston. They traveled by electric as far as Nashua and there boarded the express. Both had been drinking it is said. Cornelissen had been riding the "blind baggage" and when the train rounded the curve between the Walker street crossing and the red bridge, he lost his balance and fell under the wheels of the train. His head and upper part of the body was terribly crushed and the wheels passed over the right ankle, almost severing the foot. Death was instantaneous.

The body was removed to the funeral parlors of Undertakers Molloy & Sons, and later to home of deceased, 129 Sixth street, South Boston, where it was received by the wife and six small children. Morris was placed under arrest as a suspicious person by Patrolman Kenney.

LOWELL POLICE

The Lowell police ball team will go to Salem tomorrow morning, and will clash with the Salem team in a red hot ball game. Should Lowell carry off the honors they will easily cop the pennant.

Of course, it had been re-lined. But he said that every door closed perfectly. There was not any part warped. Now isn't it the cheapest refrigerator to buy? OLYMPIC PRIZES AWARDED BY KINGUnited States Got First Place in 1600 Metres Relay Race and the Decathlon

STOCKHOLM, July 15.—In two of the leading events of today's Olympic games, namely the 1,600 metres relay race and the decathlon, the United States secured first place while the 800 metres swimming final, which was carried off by Australia the United States was second, thus scoring altogether eight points.

Sweden added no fewer than 19 points to her total; Finland 13 points; England, 6 points; Germany, 5 points; Australia, 3 points; France, 2 points; and Austria one point.

In the cross-country race of 8,000 metres which was partly an individual and partly a team race, H. Kolchmair, the noted Finn runner, came in easily first but his team was placed after that of Sweden in the team race.

In the hop, step and jump Sweden cleaned up the three prizes.

James Thorpe of Carlisle, Indian school performed a remarkable feat in winning the decathlon and proved his general all-around ability as an athlete.

King Gustav at five o'clock this evening presented the prizes of the gold, silver and bronze medals won in the various competitions. The scene was a very brilliant one as the thousands of athletes from many different nationalities gathered in front of the stand.

Lazaro Dead

Gloom was cast over the spectators and participants in the Olympic games today when it became known that the only Portuguese runner in yesterday's historic marathon race, F. Lazaro, had died in the hospital this morning. He suffered from sunstroke during yesterday's race and fell out after running 19 miles.

The news caused great distress to the king and crown prince and other members of the royal family. Only a few scattered hundreds of spectators occupied the benches of the stadium this morning, the last day of the athletic section of the games. The pole vaulting event in the decathlon was the only attraction and that proceeded very slowly.

Most of the people preferred to visit the neighboring athletic grounds, where mixed teams of American and Swedish athletes gave an exhibition of baseball for the benefit of those foreigners who had never seen a game.

An enormous crowd, however, gathered this afternoon when the prizes were presented to the winners. Swimming and military riding competitions were in progress throughout the day.

BIG STRIKE IN NEW BEDFORD IN 11 SILVER WEDDING OF
COTTON MILLS TODAY---13,000
MR. AND MRS. MOSS
OPERATIVES IDLE

NEW BEDFORD, July 15.—Textile operatives in eleven cotton cloth mills in this city struck today to enforce the demand of the weavers for the abolishment of the grading fines system. The strikers gathered about the gates of the mill against which the strike is directed and made a noisy demonstration. There was no violence of any kind reported during the first few hours of the strike.

The corporations affected by the strike were the Acushnet, Booth, Bristol, Dartmouth, Gosnold, Grinnell, Hathaway, Pierce Bros. Ltd., Pierce Manufacturing Co., Potomaska, Wampanoag.

These corporations employ an aggregate of about 13,000 operatives. It was estimated by observers at the mill gates that more than half of the operatives remained away from the mills. All of the unions have not yet joined the strike as they are awaiting official sanction from their national organizations before quitting work.

The machinery in the mills was started at the usual time today and many of the weavers and loomfixers, whose work is dependent upon the operation of the looms, were on hand when the gates opened. When they found that the notice announcing the establishment of the grading system had not been removed they promptly left their looms. As the weavers and loomfixers emerged from the mills they were cheered by the crowds that were waiting outside.

With the single exception of the weavers' union, which is an independent organization, all of the craft organizations represented in the mills are affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. These craft organizations include the spinners, the carders, the loomfixers and others. There are also about 1,200 operatives who are members of the Industrial Workers of the World and who have voted to declare a general strike against the mills.

There is also a large proportion of operatives who are not members of any labor union, but who ordinarily follow the lead of the union workers. The textile industry in New Bedford is conducted by 30 corporations operating 2,935,254 spindles and 52,850 looms in 51 mills employing 21,000 operatives. Some of these mills manufacture yarns only while others are not affected by the strike because the notices announcing the establishment of the grading system either have been removed or else were not posted.

The 11 corporations against which the strike has been declared contain 1,148,000 spindles and 32,952 looms in 31 mills employing nearly 13,000 operatives. The grading system, against which the weavers protest, establishes different prices for first and second grade work and replaces the lining system under which the weavers were fined for every imperfection in the cloth woven on their looms.

The total estimated weekly payroll in the eleven mills affected is $100,000. Although the strike today was confined officially only to the weavers, the loomfixers and the Industrial Workers of the World operatives, many of the workers belonging to other craft unions remained away from the mills.

The carders' union planned to hold a meeting tonight to take action on the question of striking and a meeting of the spinners' union will be held tomorrow for the same purpose.

Up to 10 o'clock there had been no reports of any disorder growing out of the strike. As a matter of precaution a large force of police was on duty near the various mills. It was generally believed that there would be no outbreaks before the other unions had taken action on the matter of declaring a sympathetic strike.

MR. AND MRS. THOMAS MOSS.

They Were Presented With Some
Beautiful Gifts by Knights
of Sherwood Forest

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Moss of 77 Gorham street quietly observed their 25th wedding anniversary at their home yesterday. During the day a number of their friends called and offered congratulations. In the afternoon Mr. Moss was tendered a reception and presentation by the members of the Talbot chapter, Knights of Sherwood Forest. The affair took place at the regular meeting of the chapter, of which Mr. Moss is a highly respected member. He is a past commander of the organization and a member of Copart Sheldale, F. of A.

The meeting was held in Liberty hall, the headquarters of the Knights. The assembly was called to order by William H. Stafford. The latter, after opening remarks, introduced as the principal speaker Wm. A. Kelly, head of the chapter. Mr. Kelly spoke of the work done by Mr. Moss while he was in the position of commander and how he endeavored himself to all the members by his excellent personality and gentleness, and that now when he and his wife are observing their 25th anniversary the members felt that the time was most opportune to manifest their appreciation for his work by presenting the happy couple a gift that would serve as a reminder of the occasion and also demonstrate the esteem in which the couple are held by their friends. The speaker then called Mr. Moss to the front and presented him a beautiful cut glass punch bowl and 25 pieces of silver.

Mr. Moss was taken completely by surprise, but found words to thank the members of the order for the gifts and the speaker for his complimentary remarks. Among those present were the following officers of the Talbot chapter: Past Grand Chief, Ranger Henry McManus of Fitchburg; William H. Stafford, and the four deputy grand chief rangers, Albert McDougall, Narcisse Gaddois, David Gerow and John Barrett.

Mr. and Mrs. Moss were married at Actonville, Province of Quebec, on July 14, 1887, by Rev. Fr. George Warrell and came to Lowell on their honeymoon. They remained in this city since with the exception of one year when they went to Salem. While in the latter city a child was born to the couple but lived but a short time. They then returned to Lowell and have since resided here.

Mr. Moss has been employed in the Lowell Machine Shop foundry, as a moulder for many years and is very popular with all his fellow employees. He has been connected with the Foresters for a number of years and has always taken an active part in all the workings of the different courts. The chapter is composed of the leading Foresters and he was one of the first members elected to the order.

Miss Goldman's home last evening and a number of her friends assembled and assisted in making the party an enjoyable one. A musical program was carried out, and refreshments served. At the conclusion of the pleasant affair all departed wishing the popular young lady a very successful and pleasant trip to the metropolis.

A number of Lowell people left today for Nantucket, where they plan to remain for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. David McCoy, the former a popular employee of the baggage office at the Boston & Maine depot, are relieving over the arrival of a 10-pound son, which visited their home at the corner of Smith and Liberty streets yesterday noon. The proud father avers that the youngster will be the next successor to the baggage master and his fellow employees are of the same opinion unless the present incumbent joins the beneficiaries.

Several of the morning trains were quite late this morning owing to the heavy travel.

The baggage and freight into the depot was exceptional large today. Monday and the men were kept on the jump all morning.

THE NEW RESERVOIR
INSPECTED TODAYBy the Municipal Council—It Will Cost $20,000 More to Complete the Work

The new reservoir being built on Centralville heights was viewed by the municipal council today upon invitation of Commissioner Barrett under whose department the work is being done. Mr. Barrett announced some time ago that the cost of the work would exceed the appropriation which was somewhere in the vicinity of $100,000, the sum of $100,000 having been appropriated for the reservoir, the new pumping station and new wells at the boulevard. Mr. Barrett allows that it will cost $20,000 more to complete the reservoir and he said he wanted to have the mayor and other members of the municipal council view the job in order that they might see what has been done and what remains to be done. It was reported that the north wall of the reservoir, already in position, had warped and was out of plumb but Mr. Barrett says that is not so. The wall, he says, is perfect so far as he can observe.

Municipal Council Tomorrow

The municipal council will hold two meetings tomorrow, one in the afternoon at 2 o'clock and the other in the evening at 7:30 o'clock. Both meetings will be devoted mainly to hearings on petitions.

MAN BADLY BURNED
MAY LOSE SIGHTAccident at Spaulding
Shoe Co.

As a result of an accident at the Spaulding Shoe Co. in Rock street this forenoon a man named John Strittkos, aged living at 336 Suffolk street, may lose his sight, holds face having been badly burned with what is known as box stove gum.

Strittkos was employed at the Spaulding Shoe Co., and this morning about 8 o'clock he was in need of box stove gum and instead of calling for it, according to the officials of the company, he went to the barrel and tried to help himself. As his efforts were fruitless, he struck a match and stuck it into the barrel in order to see if there was any more of the gum left.

Inasmuch as the gum contains gasoline, there was an explosion and the man's face and eyes, as well as his scalp, were badly burned. The ambulance was summoned and he was removed to the Lowell hospital, where the doctors fear he may lose his sight.

KENNGOTT'S BOOK

WILL BE REVIEWED IN TOMORROW'S ISSUE OF THE SUN

Tomorrow The Sun will print some extracts from Rev. George F. Kennigott's book, "The Record of a City," and will give some reasons why the book should not be introduced in the schools of Lowell. Every parent in Lowell, being interested in this matter, should read the article very carefully and then exert their influence upon the proper authorities to prevent this book from being placed in the schools for perusal by the children or for any other purpose.

Business men who have the interests of our city at heart and particularly the members of the Board of Trade, who are laboring to promote those interests, should read this article in order that they too may use their influence to save the city from the great injury that may be done to her reputation and standing, to her people and her schools by any official endorsement of this book. See the review in tomorrow's Sun.

EMPEROR WILLIAM MAKES STRONG SPEECH

Relative to the Situation
in Morocco

BERLIN, July 15.—Emperor William has just made a speech designed to curb the too aggressive spirit of these Germans who wanted to see the German flag raised over a part of Morocco last year. This speech, which was made at a yacht regatta banquet at Hamburg and was largely addressed to Hamburg merchants, contained a pointed reference to the Agadir incident. The passage in question was as follows: "As you all know, gentlemen, the flag must wave in honor, and it must not be allowed to spread to the breezes of a distant shore where we are not sure that we can defend it. You will understand why I have practiced self-restraint in spreading the German flag at places where many persons perhaps long to see it waving. I was governed by an old Hanseatic principle, graven on the tower hall at Lubeck: 'The little flag is easily bound to the staff, but it is most costly to haul it down again with honor.'"

The emperor went on to say that he could claim that, during his reign, the honor of the German flag had never been insulted from any quarter; then, addressing himself to the Hamburg merchants present, he added: "I pledge you, and I stand for it, that my flag will follow you wherever you lead, the way." This latter remark shows that the emperor does not believe in the old political maxim that trade follows the flag. He is less aggressive, and is content to have the German flag follow trade.

Surveying Ship
The German navy's surveying ship Planet has discovered in the vicinity of the Philippines the deepest known spot in the ocean, 7500 metres, or four hundred and six feet more than six miles. This record sounding was made, according to a cable account received at the admiralty here, about forty sea miles off the north coast of Mindanao. The greatest depth hitherto known, 6535 metres—just under six miles—was found by the United States cable steamer Neris in 1901 in the south of the island of Guam.

Jobs for Women
Woman suffragists, the socialists and other advocates of the equal-pay-for-equal-work doctrine are much wrought up over a plan of the imperial postal department, just announced, whereby 8000 male employees are to be replaced by women on the score of economy. It is estimated that a yearly saving of about £600,000 may be effected, or practically $1,200,000 will be effected. The salary of some 2500 of the posts to be filled with women will be 750 marks a year, this makes $11.88 a month.

Period of Decline
The United States has reached its period of decline, is announced by Baron H. von Barnekow, a widely-travelled German, who contributes to the "Reichsboten," a Berlin newspaper, an article summarizing impressions he gained on the latest of his many visits to America. Articles of this nature are not infrequent in the German press, but ordinarily they are written with such a manifest aim to let things take their course, by an unhealthy and excessive self-appreciation and a general ennobling of moral values. All these say Baron von Barnekow, are products of the last few years. The moral coarsening has worked down from the top, from the newly rich. Another indication of decay is the alleged fact that the American intolerance of the doctrine of the golden rule is beginning to disappear. Suggested as a possible contributing cause of the decline is the fact that the birthrate among the old American families is falling off, while it remains high among the South European immigrants. The old families of the New England states and of the South have as yet been less affected by the demoralizing tendency of present American life than the people of any other section.

It is, however, in the farmers of the United States that Baron von Barnekow sees a possibility of arresting the downward movement. As yet, he says, they have not been touched by the moral decline. The dwellers in the country, he declares, "represent today, throughout the republic, the dependable, conservative element, in which an upright Christianity and a high standard of family life have been preserved; they represent the most industrious and deserving portion of the whole population of the country." An especial word of praise is spoken for the German-American farmers.

Russian Emigrants
The attempt of a party of Russian emigrants to America to gain the land of liberty and opportunity without paying the Russian passport fees resulted in the death of an incident reported from Schmalenkirchen, a village on the East Prussian border, which is one of the main centres for "running the frontier" without passports. The party had arranged with the sentry post for unimpeded passage at the usual date of $1.50 per head, but their man was relieved before the emigrants appeared. He remained in hiding near the spot, and when the party appeared, endeavored to force his way through to divide the money with him. Failing in this, he fired a shot to kill the guard and stop the emigrants, whereupon his comrade first killed him and then committed suicide. When the guard arrived the emigrants were in safety on German territory and only the bodies of the two soldiers were found.

INTERESTING FIGURES ON VOTING STRENGTH

Prepared by British Minister of Education

LONDON, July 15.—John A. Pease, minister of education, long chief liberal whip and therefore an expert on registration, was put up by the government to introduce the proposed reform and registration bill, the effect of which would among other things be to abolish plural voting and increase the number of voters in the United Kingdom by some 2,500,000.

It is on this bill that the government has promised to give facilities for the introduction of an amendment to grant to suffrage to women on the same terms as to men. This amendment, however, will not be a government one, and members are to be left to vote as they like on it. As the present house of commons has already declared itself against votes for women, the amendment has little chance of passing. In fact, the bill itself has very little chance of reaching the statute book, with home rule and Welsh disestablishment ahead of it and hardly time enough to discuss these two great measures.

The bill has been introduced in keeping with the three promises made by the prime minister. The first was to his own supporters to do away with plural voting, which it is generally admitted handicaps liberal candidates in the constituencies, most of the landholders who have these plural votes casting their votes against the liberals. This promise can be kept without the passage of the present bill, as another bill with the same purpose has been introduced by a private member and has already passed its second reading. By adopting this bill as their own, the government can redeem the first of Premier Asquith's promises.

The second promise was, if there was time, to remove the disabilities which the present law places in the way of registration. This can also be carried out in the private bill. The next promise was in the suffragists, to give facilities for the introduction of an amendment giving votes to women. This will be carried out, but as it will be opposed by leaders on both sides of the house, it is not likely to get further than an introduction. This would finally dispose of the matter in the present parliament. Then the reform bill will be laid aside, unless, of course, something unforeseen happens, and the liberals will get rid of plural voting by private bill and in the same way secure the passage of any of their franchise proposals that they consider vital.

The bill introduced by Mr. Pease is of far-reaching effect. By the value of property as an element of qualification would cease and every man of 21 years of age, with six months' residence or occupation in a constituency, could have his name placed on the register without all the red tape which makes the English system the most cumbersome in the world. For example, under the present system, if a man removed from one house to another in the same street, he automatically lost his vote and could not get on the list again until a new one was being prepared, which might mean a year. Under the bill just introduced the lists always remain open, and a voter has six months in which to notify the officials of his change of address. There are many other anomalies that would be removed.

These changes meet with the approval of all, but there are other clauses in the bill, besides the abolition of plural voting, which the conservatives bitterly oppose. The abolition of university representation, which would reduce the voting power of their party in the house of commons, is objected to on the ground that the university constituencies are the only ones where an education qualification is required. This reduction of the membership of the house of commons, with the 61 taken away by the home rule bill, would make the membership exactly 70. With home rule for Scotland and Wales, which the liberals now look forward to, the house would become a still smaller one numerically.

As a slight consolation for the loss of plural votes, the peers, who heretofore could not vote, are given this privilege with all other "males of 21 years of age having a residence or occupation" in the constituency. This does not, however, carry with it the right to sit in the house of commons.

The bill would repeal all the present elaborate paraphernalia of franchise laws, registration courts and revising barristers. It would repeal in entirety no fewer than 28 statutes, and partially repeal 44 other acts of parliament.

Mr. Pease quoted some interesting figures showing the effect of the measure in operation as follows:

Present parliamentary electorate	7,984,600
Loss by abolition of plural voting	525,000
University voters disfranchised	49,614
Effective total	7,409,986
Total males over 21 years in United Kingdom	12,032,000
Male voters	7,409,986
Male adults who are non-voters	4,622,014

Of these disfranchised males it is estimated that the government bill would give the vote to about 2,500,000.

Number of women in the United Kingdom 13,250,000. If votes are given to women on the same terms as men under this bill, the number of women placed on the parliamentary register would be 10,500,000.

The government has pledged itself to introduce a redistribution bill as soon as the effect of the proposed reforms on the size of the constituencies is ascertained.

Goodale's Dandelio has grown so strongly in public favor that at many fountains where the original is not served, you will be offered imitation "Dandelion Beer" with the assurance that it is "just as good as Dandelio." W. FIFTH ST. BAPTIST CHURCH WAS STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

WEST FIFTH STREET BAPTIST CHURCH.

Great Damage Was Done to the Steeple and Church Sexton Was Stunned

In the short but severe storm which passed over the city yesterday morning lightning caused havoc at the Baptist church in West Fifth street, when a bolt struck the steeple and almost demolished it. The janitor had a very narrow escape from death, as he was just leaving the temple when the bolt struck it. Fortunately he was not injured, although he was thrown to the ground and stunned.

The bolt entered the steeple, ripped off a large portion of the shingles and timber on the bridge street side of the church, bulged out the opposite side, broke all of the windows in the front part of the building, and then jumped to the ground, tearing open a large hole as it entered the earth.

The crash shook the houses of the neighborhood terribly, besides being felt in several sections of the city. Frank Cram, the sexton, had been in the building a few seconds before the bolt struck, and was walking out of the yard when the blinding flash followed almost immediately by the clap of thunder, threw him to the ground. He was stunned momentarily, but later was able to go to his home.

Inasmuch as the pastor, Rev. F. A. Macdonald, is away on his vacation, the services yesterday, which were held despite the accident, were conducted

The Close Was Strong—Saturday's
Bank Statement Had Favorable Effect on the Market. Today—Bonds
Were Steady

NEW YORK, July 15.—Aside from renewed weakness in St. Paul stocks, the market showed a steady tone at the opening today. The principal features were U. S. Great Northern pfd., Missouri, Kansas & Texas and Rock Island pfd., the latter gaining a full point.

St. Paul soon recovered and the balance of the list made further improvement with gains of a point or better for N. Y. C., Reading, Lehigh Valley, Great Northern pfd., Great Northern, Can., the electrical shares and some specialties.

Last Saturday's bank statement which completely corrected the unfavorable conditions had a favorable effect on the market today. The regular leaders were up a point with what looked like a cumulative buying in certain issues, particularly in U. P. and Norfolk & Western, the latter approaching its recent high record. Steel, General Electric, Westinghouse, Amal Copper and Can. all shared in the advance, while St. Paul after early weakness made more than full recovery.

Trading slackened in marked manner before noon. Bonds were steady.

During midday the market became duller with no loss of strength. Brooklyn transit rose a point and gains of from 1 to 2 points were recorded by Illinois Central, Western Maryland and Guggenheim Exploration.

St. Paul sold two points above its level of Saturday while other standard shares were inclined to harden despite the increasing dullness.

The market closed strong. Best prices were made in the last hour on a minimum of operations.

CITY HALL NOTES

The entire cost of Lowell's public schools, including the industrial school, from July 1, 1911, to June 30, 1912, was $416,006.50. The cost of the industrial school for the year was $24,530.10.

The street department is patching the asphalt paving in Corham street, between Bowden and Blossom streets.

Grace Delany has been granted a permit at the office of the inspector of buildings at city hall for the erection of a dwelling in Colonial avenue and Plymouth street. The building will be 40 by 26 feet, two and one-half stories, and the estimated cost is $5000.

Mr. George Couzeles, the local Greek immigration agent, returned home today from New York where, he says, the steamship Macedonia sailed with 1137 Greeks on board for the old country. Of the number, 75 were from Lowell. The latter, however, will return to this country in the fall.

NO BANQUET YET

AND LINCOLN SCHOOL BOYS
WANT TO KNOW WHY

The Lincoln grammar school ball team won the pennant in the school league and by so doing are entitled to a banquet and medals, which as yet the members have not received. Capt. Hugh Garrity and his "men" are waiting for the word to assemble and partake of the edibles and one of the youngsters, who is planning to go away on his vacation has postponed the affair. Now the boys are of the opinion that the officials were only "kidding" and have practically abandoned all hope.

CLEGG.—Edith Clegg, oldest daughter of Edward and Mary Clegg, died Saturday evening at the home of her parents, 32 Jackson street, after a short illness, at the age of 7 years, 3 months and 21 days. She is survived by four brothers, George, Edward, Thomas and Alfred Clegg; one sister, Martha Ellen Clegg. Funeral notice later.

CALLAHAN.—Mrs. Margaret E. Callahan, one of the oldest residents of Centralville and a devout member of St. Michael's church, died very suddenly Sunday morning at her home, 73 Lakeview avenue. She leaves two daughters, Misses Mary J. and Annie T. Callahan; one son, Charles H. Callahan; also three sisters, Mrs. Catherine Martin, Miss Annie Doherty, both of Ireland, and Mrs. Mary Creighton of New Mexico.

HUNDREDS ARE HOMELESS AS RESULT OF CLOUDBURST

A Number of Deaths Are Rumored
and the Property Loss is $1,500,000

DENVER, Colo., July 15.—Several hundred men, women and children are homeless, a number of deaths are rumored and $1,500,000 worth of property is in ruins here as the result of a cloudburst, which resulted in the overflow of the shallow bed of Cherry creek through this city from 10 o'clock until midnight last night.

The big city auditorium today is a refuge camp. At dawn 500 of the homeless were gathered there and fed by the city. Twenty-five children, whose parents may have been lost, are in the care of a police matron.

After directing relief and rescue work all night Mayor Arnold organized relief parties to begin the search of the course of the flood which is a trail of wrecked dwellings and other debris heaped in the current of the South Platte river.

The chamber of commerce has opened a relief subscription.

Had it not been for a note of warning sounded over the telephone from an unknown source to the city hall just before the crest of the flood reached the city many could not have escaped death. Many fled in their night clothes and that many more were caught in the flood while sleeping is the general belief.

In two hours' hard rain the streets and sewers were flooded, the tramway lines were out of commission, hundreds were marooned in the parks around the city and 50 miles of city roadway was destroyed. Then came a hail of four hours during which the ear lines were returning to schedule.

At about 9.40 last night the cry of a warning of the coming flood reached the city hall. Within thirty minutes a wall of water many feet high descended on the city from Cherry creek.

Not until the telephone and telegraph lines are restored today will the full extent of the ravage be known.

ing them up impartially. Having been in baseball a great many years, I am usually able to tell whether a man has the 'goods' even though he may have playing facts, which, to the fans, make him seem an ordinary player.

"Watching a game I frequently see such a man. His position and movements in batting may be wrong. He may not run properly or effectively cover his position, but if he looks as though he might learn (some never can, you know) I go to him after the game and tell him how he might improve his work. Usually ball players on the small teams have the faults because they never were told that there was anything the matter with their playing. When the trouble is pointed out, however, they usually try to correct their style. After giving such a man a couple of lessons, I go away for a few weeks, and upon my return, if I see the player has corrected his style and his work is improving, I watch him further. If, on the other hand, I find him playing just the same as before I move on to the next stop and begin all over again.

"There are many reasons why I believe our system of getting players is the best. With major league baseball organized as it today, I don't think it is good policy to get star men at fabulous prices, for there is nothing to assure you that the new find will play harmoniously with the men you already have. The chances are better with a young player, for by getting him early you can gradually break him into the style of play the team is using. This feature of baseball is today more important than ever before, and it is accordingly more important that the new material shall be the right sort of stuff. Sometimes it takes a couple of years to break a recruit in, but if he finally 'arrives' the time is far from lost.

"Most scouts do not average a new player a year, so there is some truth in the assertion that if a scout succeeds in landing and developing one big star during his career his record is looked upon as a good one. Sometimes it takes a scout a long time to get what he is after. Pittsburgh tried for twelve years to get a good first baseman. It took the St. Louis Americans ten years to get a first sacker that was satisfactory. Detroit had six men scouting last year.

DE GROFF LEADS THE N. E. LEAGUE

In Batting With Average of .360

De Groff still retains his claim as the real leader of the battlers of the New England league, with the mark of .360. In the 300 hitters Lowell has five, namely: De Groff, Halstein, Clemens, Lavigne and McGowan. In all the other departments Lowell is strong.

RULING BY CZAR JOHNSON

President Johnson has ruled that managers of teams who appear in uniform must include themselves in the list of players allowed each major league club up to Aug. 20. After that time the number of men carried by each team is increased to thirty-five.

DRACUT

The residents of Dracut are talking of holding another special town meeting relative to the establishment of a branch library in Harmony hall, Collinsville. The action which had been taken at the regular town meeting last March, in which $500 was voted for that purpose, was rescinded at a special meeting held a short time ago, and now the residents of that part of the town are agitating for another meeting by which they hope to gain their point, which they claim would only be reasonable.

FOR WOMAN AND HOME

SOCIAL GOSSIP
FEMININE LOREThe Big Becoming Hats of the Midsummer Season
Are Attracting the Attention of the Women

Midsummer hats are immense. They are veritable wheels and actually much larger than the wheel of a perambulator. Much of their effectiveness, however, depends upon the angle at which they are pinned upon the hair. It is not always easy to succeed with this angle and longitude supplied by the milliners, whereby the purchasers of their creations might learn the exact angle which the brim should bear to the line of the eyes. This little attention would put an end to much of the disappointment which arises upon putting a "dear of a hat" upon one's head for the first time at home.

Big, low crowned, drooping brim shapes, all in straw or in straw with veiled in black chantilly are effective, as are the facings of color—rose for example—veiled by softly shirred black tulle or chantilly, the outside of the hat being trimmed in a great bow or ruche of the lace.

A stunning big leghorn hat trimmed recently by a clever girl had its brim covered with her grandmother's chantilly black lace parasol top, the old fashioned carriage parasol tops that were not much larger than a 1912 picture hat. The centre of the lace cover was cut out sufficiently to fit about the low round crown and spread out over the wide drooping brim. Heading the lace ruffle was a careless twist of natter blue velvet ribbon, topped by a wreath of tiny pink roses without foliage.

crowns covered with taffeta, lace or other contrasting fabrics, are worn for everything from morning toilet to formal dress, according to the degree of elaboration or general character of the trimming.

For dressy hats much chantilly lace is used for the brim facings, bows, etc. Bows of color in satin and in taffeta age. The effect was very dainty and girlish, and the cost was a mere trifle. With this hat was worn a charming little frock of natter blue voile over white silk, and the usual French touch was contributed by the black velvet sash.

Speaking of natter blue coloring, the chic Watteau picture hat to be seen among the cuts is of this shade of blue and apricot pink, combined with white. The crown of pin tucked batiste and lace is mounted on a drooping rim of lace, finished at the edge with a broad facing of natter blue straw. This wreath of small silk roses is in shades of apricot pink and gray green, the lion. The hat is made of jovy taffeta, trimmed with plain taffeta plaiting and flat "lomat" roses are caught in the softly knotted streamers of blue and gray shot taffeta ribbon. This hat was designed for a dark haired and blue eyed maid. The natter blue brim facing deepens the blue of the eyes, while the inner brim facing of lace throws the wavy dark hair into relief.

THE NEW FLANGE BRIM WITH FLOWERS BENDATH

POMPADOUR HAT IS GAY AND DASHING

Big hats faced with flowered pompadour silk or velvet with roses clustering under the brim are very smart this summer. One of these models is pictured faced with jovy velvet, with a single handsome plume as the only trimming.

But perhaps the most eccentric large hat of the season is called "the admiral." This nautical piece of headgear is nothing more than a simple shepherdess shape, the fore and aft trimming giving the sailorlike suggestion. The hat is made of jovy taffeta, trimmed with plain taffeta plaiting and the oddly arranged wreath of roses.

Though most women are fond of the drooping brim which shades the face so datteringly, the newest of the mid-season shapes have their brims lifted. The latest model with an uplited effect is the flange brim. This hat has for a foundation a cap of leghorn which fits the head snugly. Over this is a gathered frill of shadow lace, stiffened with a wire hoop at the edge and lifted flange fashion, to show a cluster of flowers tucked under the loops of lace. This hat accompanies a frock of striped taffeta, with which are worn long embroidered silk gloves and buttoned boots of white buckskin.

In smart millinery each face is carefully studied so that the beauty of the features may be enhanced by the sweep of the brim, and the shapes and colorings of most of the hats of the season are exquisitely lovely.

TO TAKE CARE OF BEDS AND BEDDING

To keep good health it is very necessary to sleep well and comfortably so every housewife should make a point of attending carefully to the bedding.

If the mattresses have become hard and bumpy, the buttoning loose or the ticking very soiled, they should be sent to the shop to be made over.

In ordinary cases, where it is possible, take the mattress out of doors and lay it over a line, beating thoroughly on each side with a carpet beater. Then spread some newspapers on the ground and lay the mattress flat upon it and with a fairly stiff brush remove all the dust and "duff" collected under the leather disks which button it down, finally brushing all round the edges where it is bound.

Pillows should be beaten in the same way, and to keep the tick clean and in good condition try sewing over the pillow an old pillowslip, which may be removed as soon as it becomes soiled. In spite of having the ordinary pillowslip over it, it is surprising how soiled the undercover becomes, while it is far easier to wash this than to clean the whole pillow.

Whether you use iron or wooden bedsteads, they should be thoroughly looked over every spring and cleaned by wiping with a damp cloth wrung out of warm water. Take plenty of time over this work and attack every crevice and corner where dust is likely to settle. Some housewives make a practice of lightly painting over the under portions of the bedstead with turpentine, while others place camphor or wipe naphtha between the mattresses.

It is easier to clean a woven wire spring with a stiff, dry brush, but if a wet treatment is preferred wash it over with a little warm water and soap and remember to stand the spring upright in a current of air, so that it may dry quickly and not rust.

As the weather gets warm and the blankets are discarded make a practice of washing one or two each week until each bed has been cleared.

The blankets on the guest room bed will probably not need washing, but these should be hung over a line in the sunshine and gently beaten or shaken.

A USEFUL REMINDER

A coarse scrubbing brush near the kitchen door is the best sort of shoe cleaner for muddy weather.

Put glycerine on the meat grinder. It is a lubricant and does not taste in the food, and it is not harmful.

Mildew will go away from curtains if they are soaked with clean water and rubbed with laundry soap and then in the sun. Repeat the performance until the stains are gone, although, if they are bad, it may take several treatments.

A pinch of borax in the water with fresh flowers will make them last longer. Salt can also be used for the same purpose.

THE NEW WRAPS

For daily wear in summer as well as winter, with motoring and sports of all kinds, one must have a cloak at hand. There is a shape which has found many supporters, inspired a little by the garments worn by Italian peasants, hanging loose from the shoulders and forming a point in the centre of the back and having a cape cut in one. All these garments fasten on the left side.

HANGER FOR GOWNS

Cut a piece of heavy cardboard seventeen inches long and eight inches wide and shape one side of it like a coat hanger. Now punch a small hole in the center one inch from the top and tie a piece of ribbon or tape through it to make a loop to hang it on.

In the lower edge make two holes six inches apart and either insert large safety pins or sew in hooks to hang the skirt of your gowns to.

This makes an inexpensive and very satisfactory frame to hang your summer lingerie or linen frocks and waists upon, keeping them fresh for a long time after they have been ironed.

These hangers may be padded with raw cotton and covered with fancy silk or flowered silk. A delicate sachet powder sprinkled over the cotton adds greatly to their attractiveness and perfumes the gown as well.

REST AND HEALTH TO MOTHER AND CHILD.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for over SIXTY YEARS by MILLIONS OF MOTHERS for their CHILDREN WHILE TEething, with PERFECT SUCCESS. IT SOOTHES the CHILD, SOFTENS the GUMS, ALLAYS ALL PAIN, CURES WIND COLIC, and is the best remedy for DIARRHOEA. It is absolutely harmless. Be sure and ask for Winslow's Soothing Syrup, and take no other kind. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

LOWELL TEAM WON BOTH GAMES FROM WORCESTER

Scores 4 to 1 and 8 to 3—Pfeffer
Won His Game and Owens
Was in Fine Form

Lowell defeated Worcester in both games of the double header Saturday afternoon, making three straight victories from the Rusters in two days. There was a very large crowd on hand and the two games were closely contested, the scores being first, 4 to 1, second, 8 to 3.

Two former big leaguers worked in the first game. Pfeffer, formerly of the Boston Nationals, was on the mound for Lowell, and Big Jake Bushelman, late of the Red Sox, did the heavy lifting for Worcester. The former cast-off from the big show did remarkably well and had on his opponent in all ways. Bushelman worked hard to win, and Jesse was confident that he would pull out the victory, but the Lowell men got to his shoals and he was defeated for the first time since his return to the New England league.

In the second game, Owens in the box for Lowell, was in grand form and outpitched Hale, who did the "honors" for the Rusters. Andy had everything and allowed Jesse and his hand just an even half dozen hits.

Halstein continued to bang the pill, and in the two games he got five hits. His fielding was also of the apple pie order. Dee and Wolfgang, the substitute infielders, played fine baseball, and in fact the Lowell men played like they did last season when they copped the flag. The scores:

THE MANHATTANS OUTCLASS SO. ENDS IN BASEBALL GAME

Score 12 to 2—Sharkey Pitched
Remarkable Game—Buckley
Made Great Catch

The South Ends, who went all season without being defeated, received one of the worst beatings ever given in a championship game, when they met the Manhattan team at Spaulding park Saturday afternoon. The score was 12 to 2, which explains the comparative strength of the two teams. The boys from the South came were completely outclassed from the start, and with Sharkey on the mound for the team representing the Manhattan club, there was nothing to it but the boys from the fair grounds.

The game was for a purse of $200, and was witnessed by one of the largest crowds that ever attended a semi-professional ball game in this city. There was considerable enthusiasm, and the rooters of both teams were equipped with cowbells, fishbones, etc., and the latter were frequently heard during the progress of the game.

From the first inning the South Ends were beaten, but in justice to Manager Lyons and his boys it must be said that they put up a fine battle against great odds. Sharkey pitched regular league baseball and his shoals broke in great style. His exhibition on Saturday would do credit to any New England league twirler and his work should be watched by Manager Gray or some other league manager. One of his victims was the fast "Bully" McMahon, who for the past several years has played league baseball, and is still a very good runner. McMahon, the first time he came to the bat, connected with one of Sharkey's benders and dropped it in center field for a two bagger, but in trying to stretch it into a triple, went out at third on a fast play. Buckley to Grant to Marcotte. The next two times he went to the plate he was fanned, the last time after first base he was out. Three balls before a strike was put over. Grady, who is considered a good hitter, struck out three times, every time he faced Sharkey. Another feature of the game was the excellent umpiring of William Ryan and Harry Morgan.

up. Ducharme fled to Brennan and Grant came home. Harris singled and Buckley countered. But Mr. Curry, Devlin then warmed up and Cashman hit to McMahon and went out at first for the third out.

The Manhattan got two more in the third on hits by Marcotte, Clark, Buckley, a walk to Sharkey and an error of a fly in front of the plate by McGreavey. In the fourth inning the South Ends got their second and last run on the clever base running by Young Roane. In the seventh the Manhattan got their other two runs, when Clark took first on Gallagher's error and scored when Grant hit to the left corner of the grounds for a homer. A fast double play stopped a fine chance for the South Ends in the seventh. McGreavey opened with a peach of a two-bagger to left. Brennan flung out to Harris and Gallagher ended the inning when he sent a line drive to Ducharme and the latter sent the ball to Grant who got McGreavey off the bag.

In the evening the Manhattan celebrated their glorious victory by parading the streets in a large barge, with red fire, fish horns, cow bells and other noisy provoking instruments. The score:

THE CITY CHAMPIONSHIP

Saturday's well fought battle between the Manhattan and the South Ends in which the latter went down to an ignominious defeat, has aroused a loud protest from the far famed Groves against the Manhattan's claim to the city championship. Inasmuch as the South Ends, who until Saturday last upheld their reputation as the city's undefeated baseball team, were wholly unable to make a satisfactory showing before the hard battling and superior skill of the Manhattan lineup, the latter feel that they have won a notable victory over the many so-called professional teams throughout the city, and have already under way plans for a big event in the near future, wherein to celebrate in a fitting manner what they, as well as their host of friends and admirers, look upon as a magnificent triumph.

The Groves, however, who have been life-long adversaries of the Manhattan on the diamond, contend that the claim to the city's championship has by no means been decided. This contention is based on the fact that some weeks ago a big game, to decide forever the rival claims of the Manhattan and the Groves to the championship, had been arranged to take place at the Sacred Heart parish picnic and field day, to be held at the Knights of Columbus grounds, Tyngsboro, on Saturday, July 27th. That the result of this contest will be the decisive victory is unquestioned. Never before have the Groves been able to put forth such a splendid lineup, that with which they intend to wrest the newly acquired laurels from the Manhattan in the midst of their admiring friends at the Sacred Heart picnic. That Linnehan, Allen and Jenkins, who have been identified with so many notable victories, while affiliated with the R. & C. T. of North Billerica, will once more give an excellent account of themselves is anticipated.

The Manhattan's great triumph of Saturday and the possibility of rather probability of being compelled to surrender their laurels to the Groves, as a result of the great game scheduled for the 27th, has aroused additional interest in the coming game, and as there is no other game of any importance scheduled for Lowell and vicinity on that date, it is expected that thousands of enthusiastic fans will be on hand at the Genoa club grounds, to witness what will assuredly be one of the most closely contested games of the season.

The lineup of the Groves is as follows: Doyle c, Hall p, Murphy lb, Allen 2b, Jenkins ss, Linnehan 3b, Lynch lf, Quirk cf, Brennan rf.

The lineup of the Manhattan is as follows: Doyle c, Hall p, Murphy lb, Allen 2b, Jenkins ss, Linnehan 3b, Lynch lf, Quirk cf, Brennan rf.

HENRY F. SULLIVAN SWAM TO BOSTON LIGHT

Lowell Boy Was Second and
Covered the Distance in 6h. 21m. 36s.

BOSTON, July 15.—Not only was the swim from Charlestown bridge to Boston Light made yesterday in record time, but it was notable for the endurance shown by one of the swimmers and the fine racing between some of the others.

It came near being marred by a fatality, for Annie Morecroft, who was trying to swim independent of the conditions, collapsed off Fort Strong and was rescued unconscious by a boat's crew from Fort Warren, which happened to be near.

The swim was for four prizes offered by the Pilgrim A. A. Sam Richards, Jr., of the Brookline Swimming club, Henry F. Sullivan of the Lowell C. Y. M. U., John Hray of Revere and Augustus Wise of Boston were the only ones of the 30 swimmers who started at 10 yesterday morning who succeeded in reaching the white beacon in Boston harbor.

It was the second time that Richards has accomplished the swim and he made the distance in 5h. 15m. 40 s., considerably faster time than it has been done in before. Under the Australian, was credited with doing it in 5h. 35m., but there has always been doubt about his having made the swim properly.

Wise displayed the most endurance, for he was more than eight hours in the water and for 1 hour and 45 minutes he bucked the flood tide in order to reach the goal.

John Bray has tried several times before to make the swim and each time had to leave the water when the light was in sight.

Sullivan never before in salt water, but on the Merrimack river he has done remarkable swimming. Only last summer he swam from Lowell to Manchester, N. H., about 21 miles.

Wise has competed in only one long swim before. Last year he won second prize in the race from City Point to Spectacle Island.

Annie Morecroft Sinks.
As a side issue to the swim, William Shaw of Rochester, N. Y., who is doing high diving under the name of Diplovo, dived from the top of the Elevated railroad structure on the Charlestown bridge into a basin in the pier. The distance is 80 feet; but he had to clear about 12 feet of walks in order to land in the basin.

He made a pretty dive and suffered no bad effects.

Annie Morecroft, who has aspirations to swim the English channel, tried independent of the race to make the swim to the light yesterday. It was her intention if successful to sail for England and try the channel swim.

She dived from the pier of the bridge at 9:15, when the tide was near the end of the flood, and started down the harbor alone, despite the thick fog which hung over it.

BARRETT SAVED $6,970.66 IN THE FIRE DEPT. ALONE

Commissioner Furnishes Figures and Promises More Interest- ing Ones Later On

Appropos of the discussion, editorially and otherwise, of the first six months of the new city government and what it has accomplished, Commissioner Barrett comes out with a statement having to do with fire department expenses and figures showing that the expenses for the first six months of the present year were nearly $7000 less than for the corresponding months of last year, a saving of more than $1000 a month. The comparative statement is appended:

Total saving in first six months of 1912, $6,970.66.

"I see," said Commissioner Barrett, "that certain ones await a report on the progress of reform by the new government and the public has a right to expect such reports. The figures I have to do with the fire department I happened to have close at hand and I will have some others later on. The pay roll of the fire department will be less, too, from now on than it was last year. Retrenchment would have been shown in the pay roll for the first six months but for the fact that the twenty-five cents a day granted the firemen did not take effect until July 1, 1912, so that any comparison in the pay roll for the first six months of the two years, 1911 and 1912, would be unfair to me, as the firemen have been receiving twenty-five cents a day more than they were receiving for the first six months of last year. Now, however, the pay roll is on an even basis with last year and I will endeavor to show a saving."

BEER PARTY BROKEN UP AND FIVE ARRESTS MADE

A Number of Offenders Appeared in the Police Court This Morning

A social gathering, where the beer flowed very freely, was held at 62 Middlesex street Saturday night, but the pre-arranged program was not carried out, owing to the arrival of a squad of police on the scene, who entered without any invitation and broke up the party and gave four women and a man a ride to the police station where they were booked for drunkenness. They gave their names as follows: James E. Adir, Annie P. Brunelle, Ellen Johnson, Catherine F. Grimshaw and Margaret Traversey.

The quintet was arraigned in police court this morning on complaints charging them with being drunk. Adir was ordered to pay a fine of $2. The Brunelle woman was also fined $2.

Ellen Johnson was sentenced to two months in jail and Catherine F. Grimshaw and Margaret Traversey were each sentenced to three months in jail.

Music in the Air

It is said that "music hath charms" but it all depends on what kind of music it is and also the mood in which people are. Therefore when a sextet tried to enjoy themselves in a house in Prince street about four o'clock yesterday morning some of the neighbors objected to being rudely awakened from their slumbers and notified the police. Patrolmen E. E. Hill, Gills, Drowett and Gennell were sent to the house and upon entering found two men dancing and four playing various instruments. The men were sent to the police station, where they gave their names and ages as follows: James Peckos, 27, and Christos Paris, 27, who were dancing, and James Rembhas, 19, James Kollis, 27, John Dismontes, 23, and Christos Palentza, 30, who made up the orchestra.

The six were arraigned in police court this morning on complaints charging them with dancing on the Lord's day and through their counsel, John W. McElroy, entered pleas of guilty. They were each fined $2.

Heavy Fine Imposed

Samuel Kaplan appeared in court this morning in answer to a complaint charging him with the larceny of $6 in money from George Ramus. He was in court on the same charge several times previously and pleaded not guilty but this morning he changed his plea to guilty and the court imposed a fine of $25. It is alleged that while Ramus was passing through the South common on the night of the Fourth, Kaplan placed his hand in Ramus' pocket and relieved him of $6.

Neglected His Wife

In the case of John J. Sullivan, charged with neglecting to provide for the proper support of his wife, Agnes, the court found the man guilty and gave him a suspended sentence of four months in jail.

Peddling Without a License

Joseph Storbeck of Boston pleaded guilty to peddling cloth without a license and a fine of $12 was imposed.

Withdrew Their Appeals

Wilfred Aubrey and Angeline Pepin who last week were sentenced to three months in jail after being found guilty of adultery and appealed, appeared in court this morning and withdrew their appeals.

Cases Continued

Wilfred Champagne was charged with the larceny of a pair of shoes valued at $3.50, the property of Joseph Maynard. At the request of Major Noyes the case was continued till Wednesday.

The case of Alfred C. Heald, charged with non-support of his wife, was continued until the 25th of the current month.

Adolphe Dhune pleaded guilty to being drunk, but inasmuch as a case of assault and battery is to be brought against the man the government asked for a continuance until tomorrow morning and the court granted the request.

Drunken Offenders

There were many drunken offenders in the dock and while some escaped with fines others received jail sentences.

John J. Jordan, charged with being drunk, was sent to the state farm.

Catherine Barnes was sentenced to two months in jail and John J. Reynolds was given a suspended sentence of three months in jail.

John O'Brien, Joseph H. Smith, Alfred White, Michael McDonald, Louis H. Cheney, Thomas Keating, Thomas Johnson, Michael Inley and Frank McManimon were fined $5 each. Patrick McGowan, Andrew Berry and Patrick Kirby, Sunday drunks, were fined $5 each.

There were several first offenders who were fined $2 each and 11 simple drunks were released.

TYPOS MEET

DISCUSS IMPORTANT MATTERS
AT REGULAR SESSION

A well attended meeting of the Lowell Typographical union, 310, was held at the rooms of the organization yesterday afternoon.

Secretary Fred A. Speed read his report for the past month, which showed that the union is making rapid progress, as it is now the fifth largest in the state. An interesting report of the delegates to the recent convention at Providence was given by Cleveland K. Nobles. Interesting remarks were also made on the convention by Delegate Fred Speed and ex-presidents W. Edward Turnbull and Harry Mozley.

Several other reports were read and accepted from delegates to the allied organizations. Several suggestions relative to matters of interest to local typographers were made by the members. The resignation of W. H. Kennedy as a member of the Trades & Labor council was accepted, and the vacancy will be filled at the August meeting.

MASCAGNI LEFT HIS WIFE And Went Away With a Chorus Girl

ROME, July 15.—Various stories are told concerning Pietro Mascagni, the composer of "Cavalleria Rusticana," "Ysobel" and other operas; his wife and Irma Bernini, an Italian chorus girl. Mascagni is in Paris, so is the chorus girl, and the wife, who was left behind, is said to have attempted to end her life.

SUPT. WELCH

HAS RETURNED FROM THE POLICE CHIEFS CONVENTION

Supt. Redmond Welch of the local police department has returned from Toronto, Canada, where he had been attending the annual convention of the International Police Chiefs association. His reports having had a good time and states that the conventions are very beneficial.

There were about 300 heads of police departments in attendance and many interesting and instructive papers on the police work were read during the course of the convention. Major Sylvester of Washington, D. C., presided over the convention.

Supt. Welch is loud in his praise of the hospitality of the people of Toronto, who he said made the stay in that city as enjoyable as could be. The different heads of police departments enjoyed excursions and visits to various points of interest in and around Toronto during their stay.

According to present plans it is expected to have a long swimming race, canoe, mud scow and boat races and numerous other events, while the evening's program will be a parade on the water, all boats being illuminated.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

The Crimson A. C. defeated the Tiger A. C. of Billerica in a one-sided game by the score of 15 to 12. The Crimson A. C. would like a game with the Redwolves for July 27.

The Dixwells went to Lawrence on Saturday and defeated the Boys' club of Lawrence by the score of 12 to 1.

The Ponies defeated the Elliot first team Saturday by the score of 5 to 6. The Ponies will cross bats with the strong Quimby A. C. next Saturday, and a good game is expected.

The Beacons defeated the Y. M. C. I. Indians in a double header Saturday by the scores of 29 to 3 and 13 to 9.

The Groves defeated the Crowley Stars Saturday afternoon by the score of 19 to 12.

In a close and interesting game on the North common Saturday afternoon the C. M. A. C. defeated the C. Y. M. I. by the score of 11 to 9. The winners would like a game with some strong team for Saturday, July 20.

The Westford A. A. baseball team defeated the Union of North Chelmsford by the score of 14 to 9 at Whitney playground Saturday afternoon.

For five innings there was a 0 to 0 score, but in the sixth the Westford team scored three runs on four hits, and in the seventh Westford drove McCure from the box with 10 hits. Frank Sullivan had 14 strikeouts to his credit and pitched good ball throughout. West Chelmsford will play at Whitney playground next Saturday.

The Hudsons claim the championship of the city at the age of 18, having 12 victories and one defeat, having defeated the following teams: Tiger A. A., Lawrence, twice; St. Anthony's of Lowell, twice; Maple of Lowell, once, and the Walker A. A. of Lawrence twice, and the Buffaloes, first, because we could not get any games of the teams in Lowell. We claim the title because we have won every game we have played out of Lowell and the majority of home games. We will play any team in or out of Lowell at our age limit. SO. AFRICAN WON MARATHON HIS COUNTRYMAN WAS SECOND Matt McGrath of New York Won the Hammer Throw in Easy Manner

STOCKHOLM, July 15.—Although America fared none too well in leading places of the marathon, the big event on yesterday's program at the Olympic games, the day did not pass without the Stars and Stripes floating from the staff denoting a first place won, for Matt McGrath, the husky New York weight thrower, hurled the hammer far beyond his rivals and won the event with a heave of 179 ft. 7 1/10 in., only a short distance behind his world's record.

The marathon proved the usual grueling test and was won by the So. African, K. McArthur, with his countryman, C. W. Gitschaw, in second place. The third position came to Gaston Strobino of South Paterson, N. J., a practically unknown American, who ran one of the nerviest races ever seen, and waded up through the large field in the last part of the grind. Andrew Soekalexis of the North Dorchester (Mass.) A. A., the favorite among the Americans here, came in fourth, with John J. Gallagher, the next American, in seventh place at the finish. Michael Ryan, winner of last year's Boston A. A. marathon, dropped out at the 12th mile.

Americans Win in Relay

The other American runners who finished in the first twenty were: Joseph Erbeben, Missouri A. C. St. Louis, eighth; Richard P. Piggett, North Dorchester A. A., ninth; Joseph Forshaw, Missouri A. C., tenth; Clarence DeMar, North Dorchester A. A., 12th; Harry J. Smith, New York, 15th; Louis Tewanima, Carlisle school, 17th; Thomas Lilley, North Dorchester A. A., 18th. Thus it may be seen that 10 out of the first 20 to finish were the American flag on their breasts.

In the trial of the 1600-metre relay race, the American team won its test, easily and should win the final, which will be held tomorrow.

McArthur Never Yet Beaten

The winner of the classical marathon was K. K. McArthur, a tall Transvaal policeman, who has never yet been beaten in a similar event. His compatriot, C. W. Gitschaw, came second into the stadium, several hundred yards behind, and third to appear was the American, Gaston Strobino, of the South Paterson A. C., who put in a braver fight than most of the runners, for his feet were skinned and bleeding and he was suffering great pain.

The times as announced were: McArthur, 2 hours 35 minutes; Gitschaw, 2 hours 37 minutes 52 seconds; Strobino, 2 hours 38 minutes 42 2-5 seconds.

The Americans certainly gave a death blow to the theory that the athletes of the United States are better in contests which require quickness and agility than in tests of endurance. While 30,000 spectators, who were grilled on the stadium seats, strained their eyes toward the archway from under which the runners emerged, they saw the American shield on the breasts of six of the first ten men who entered.

Yankees' Roll of Honor

The names on this roll of honor are Strobino, Andrew Soekalexis, North Dorchester, A. A.; John J. Gallagher, Yale University; Joseph Erbeben, Missouri A. C.; Richard P. Piggett, North Dorchester A. A., and Joseph Forshaw, Missouri A. C. The American team numbered twelve and ten finished. The last of these was Thomas H. Lilley, North Dorchester A. C., who finished eighteenth. Two Americans fell by the wayside—Michael J. Ryan of the Irish-American A. C., who made a good run for nineteen miles and then succumbed to the heat, and John J. Reynolds of the same club, who fell out earlier.

Sweden furnished another dozen to the race, and if their strength had been equal to their ambition they would have had a different tale to tell. They started at a great pace, the cheers of their countrymen inspiring them to exert themselves to the limit. During the first few miles they put forth all their powers and had nothing left to draw on when the final test came.

Canada had no reason to be ashamed, for two of her representatives, J. Duffy and W. H. Forsythe, finished fifth and sixteenth, respectively. Canada's great hope, Corkery, ran with Ryan for several miles, and they gave it up together.

Kolehmainen Outclassed

The tall Finn, Kolehmainen, another favorite, was outclassed. He took the lead at the beginning, but Gitschaw caught him at five miles and ran at his heels, with McArthur and F. Lord of Great Britain for ten miles, more; then robbed him of the leadership.

Two miles and a half from the goal McArthur went to the front and held the lead to the end. He had completed the circuit of the arena before Gitschaw was observed running under the archway, and he fell to the ground exhausted. The spectators cheered him lustily, and as he lay panting, Crown Prince Gustave Adolph shook him by the hand and patted him on the back. A small party of South African enthusiasts had an enormous laurel wreath ready in anticipation of victory of which they were confident from the first. They fitted the two green-jerseyed athletes on their shoulders and slung the laurel over McArthur, carrying the pair across the field.

Half an hour later, after champagne had been opened in the dressing room, the African delegation again brought out the victors and bore them around the track, the band playing frantically.

EPIDEMIC OF DIPHTHERIA IS FEARED IN THIS CITY Most of the Cases Reported Are in Franklin Street and Vicinity

There are several cases of diphtheria in Lowell at the present time and it is feared that it may become epidemic. The board of health was congratulating itself because of the few cases of contagious diseases during the hot weather but the board didn't know that diphtheria was on the way.

A majority of the cases are in Franklin street and vicinity. Eight cases have been reported within the last two days, and the doctors are busy on cultures. One doctor has already said that he fears an epidemic.

In all cases discovered antitoxin has been freely used and houses have been quarantined. The board of health does not fear an epidemic and says that the number of cases reported is not large enough to be absolutely alarming.

Dr. C. E. Simpson represents the state board of health in Lowell and the local board has reported to him. Dr. Simpson this forenoon visited the houses in Franklin street, Franklin court and vicinity, where the disease has made its appearance, and the doctor thinks that the board of health has the situation pretty well in hand. The doctor says he does not think there is any danger of an epidemic.

OLD FASHIONED REMEDIES

Science in surgery and electricity has advanced much in the past thirty years, but the treatment of disease by the old fashioned remedies made from roots and herbs, has never been improved upon.

This may be seen by the great success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, and known today as the great remedy for female ills.

No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine.

THE PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN

The campaign for the presidency will not assume its final form until after Colonel Roosevelt has held his convention and completed the organization of his Bull Moose party. Nevertheless, we do not expect that the Roosevelt "convention of one" will cut much of a figure. Already it appears that most of Roosevelt's influential followers have gone over to Wilson, and the stampede is still going on. Every day brings new accessions, not only from the Roosevelt camp but from that of President Taft. It seems as though the republican party was about to go out of existence, so complete is its demoralization from one end of the country to the other. It would appear that Senator La Follette will come over to the Wilson camp if he continues in his present course of denouncing everything Rooseveltian and much of the old stand-pat element.

All this is a matter for general gratification on the part of the people throughout this country, because during the past twenty years the republican party has been instrumental in oppressing the people and piling up new burdens with every succeeding administration until at the present time conditions are intolerable.

The trust evils have their root in the tariff law enacted during the incumbency of President McKinley. The great combinations of the country wrote their own schedules in that tariff law, and this gave rise to other combinations the largest and most oppressive the world has ever seen. They were all bent upon robbing the people through the special privileges granted them in the iniquitous tariff law.

The Dingley law which followed the McKinley law was not much of an improvement; in some points it was better and in some worse. It confirmed a system that gave the trusts and combines a free hand.

The republican party under Roosevelt promised tariff revision downward, but in stead of keeping its pledges with the people, the party violated its pledges and revised the tariff upward. Thus all the trust evils and speculative combines were encouraged to continue the legalized system of public plunder in which they were engaged.

The cost of living has gone to unprecedented bounds. The people cannot any longer bear the burdens imposed upon them, and they must now rely upon the democratic party to bring about the necessary reforms. Fortunately that party has nominated its strongest candidate, a man who commands the respect of republicans as well as democrats; a man who is in every sense a progressive and that means the repression of republican methods by which the people have been robbed. It means the inauguration of a new system of government in which the rule of the people will be supreme, and in which business must be done upon a competitive basis with the special privilege under which the people have been fleeced effectually eliminated.

At the present time the outlook is, that Wilson will be elected by the largest majority received by any president since the Civil war. The people have the destiny of the country in their own hands, they are the sovereign power, they have felt the oppression of special privilege and now is the hour of their opportunity. If they vote for Wilson the oppressive policies of the republican party will be reversed, competition both foreign and domestic will be restored and then every enterprise will have an equal chance while the people will be protected against the various forms of monopoly, fraud and imposition that have been openly practiced with the approval of the republican party.

New Bedford is to have its turn with a great mill strike and the announcement will bring all the professional agitators to the scene of battle and prominent among the number of course will be the national leaders of the I. W. W. This organization at the present time is not very strong in New Bedford, but many of the operatives will now probably respond to the call of the leaders to enter the ranks of the organization that falsely or otherwise claims the credit of winning the great strike in Lawrence.

The issue involved in this particular strike is the graded fining system. The New Bedford mills turn out very fine fabrics in which the slightest imperfection seriously affects the value. If the operatives are allowed to work as fast as they please regardless of imperfections, the quality of the output must naturally suffer. The profits of the mills might thus easily be wiped out. One would suppose that the mills would be fully justified in charging the weavers and other operatives for the imperfections found in the finished fabrics. The trouble comes, however, in ascertaining just who is responsible for some of the imperfections. The weavers are fined, but they in many cases are not to blame, as the fault may lie in the yarn and be traced to the spinner. Thus the problem has its difficulties and there is much to be said on both sides. The weavers want the fining system abolished and are willing that any operative who does not do his work in a satisfactory manner shall be discharged. The companies could not adopt the latter method for if they did they would, soon reduce the number of their skilled help.

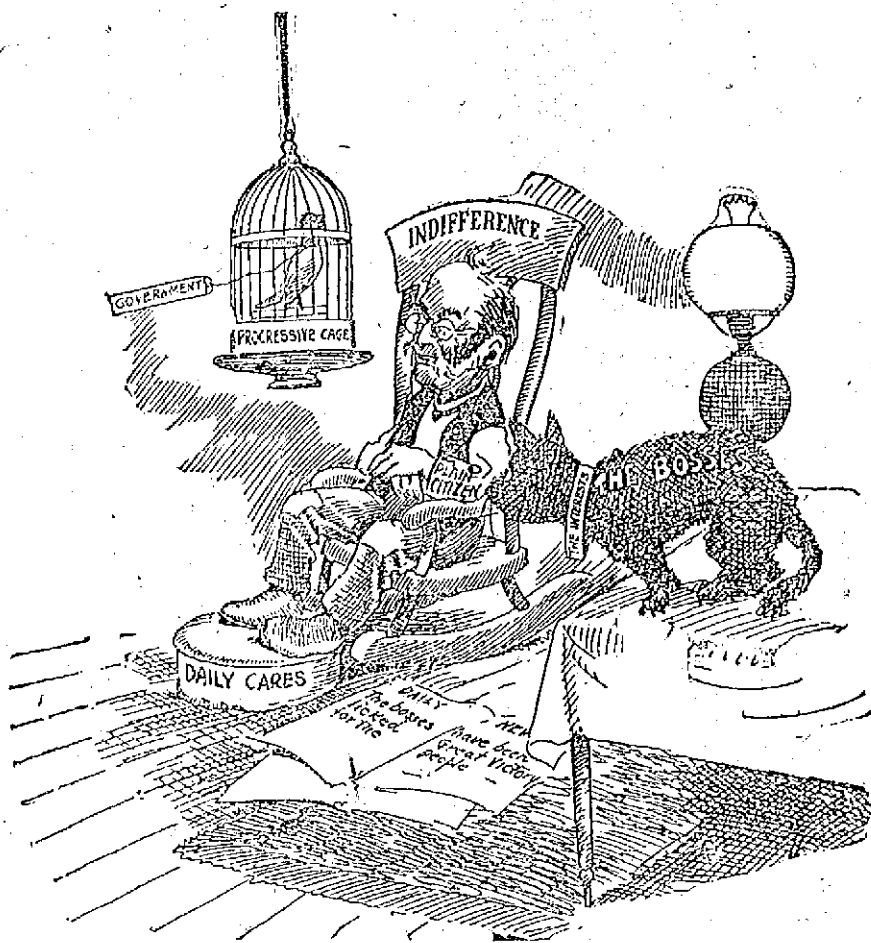

The mill employees are determined that the fining system shall go; but if it does, some other method must be adopted to ensure reasonable care on the part of the operatives.

EXPRESS RATES REDUCED

After a long investigation the interstate commerce commission has ordered a reduction in express rates that will be of great benefit to small dealers and private parties who wish to order small quantities of goods from a distance. The high rates upon small packages for many years past has eaten up a large portion of the profits of the dealers who could not maintain a central office for repacking in large cases. Most of the large stores in this city have houses in Boston in which they gather up a number of small packages into one case and thus save part of the charges which would come on the individual packages. The cases are then shipped and paid for by weight, the total costing only a fraction of what would have to be paid if each parcel were sent separately. The small dealers cannot do this and accordingly they have to pay the regular charge on every package. This has been a great hardship and it is one of the reasons why there was such a demand for the freight express system. The reduction of 15 per cent in express rates will be welcomed by merchants and dealers throughout the country.

This is the first attempt to break the monopoly that has been maintained by the express companies in a combination almost as close as if it were one single company. The express companies will try to defeat the reduction; but as the interstate commerce commission has full authority it is expected that its order will take effect at the time appointed which is next October. If the commission would now proceed to remove some of the freight extortions practiced by railroad corporations it would more fully deserve the gratitude of the people.

SEEN AND HEARD

No doubt some of the white shoes that the girls are wearing this summer were clean and spotless once.

The only way the man who has green peas and string beans ripe in his garden before anybody else can regain his popularity among the neighbors is to give them some.

If a girl is only 17, it is possible for her to be enthusiastic even in the hottest of hot weather.

The man who doesn't smoke but who always carries matches with him is a good man for his friends who do smoke to know.

A hot fitter will separate postage stamps that are stuck together, or you can send them by mail to pay a bill.

After you have told secrets over the telephone, don't be surprised if everybody knows them.

The right time to admit a wrong action is before it is found out.

The man who makes the government weather maps would feel very bad, no doubt, if he could hear the comments of a woman up country who tried to cut out a waist by one.

If you can laugh just as heartily when the joke is on you as you do when it is on the other fellow, you may be a good hypocrite.

It is said that anyone can be an editor. All an editor has to do is to sit at his desk six days in the week, four weeks in the month and 12 months of the year and "edit" such stuff as this: "Mrs. Jones of Lost Creek let a can opener slip last week and cut herself in the pantry."

"A mischievous lad of Matheron threw a stone and struck a companion in the alley last Tuesday."

"John Doe climbed on the roof of his house last week looking for a leak, and fell, striking himself on the back porch."

"Willie Harold Green was escorting Miss Violet Wise home from a church social Saturday night a savage dog attacked them and bit Mr. Green on the public square."

"Isaac Trimmer was playing with a cat Friday when it scratched him on the veranda."

"Mr. White, while harassing a broncho last Saturday, was kicked just south of the corner."—Norman E. Mack's National Weekly.

One day a pastor was calling upon a dear old lady, one of the "pillars" of the church to which they both belonged. As he thought of her long and useful life and looked upon her sweet, placid countenance, bearing but few tokens of her 92 years of earthly pilgrimage, he was moved to ask her: "My dear Mrs. S., what has been the chief source of your strength and sustenance during all these years? What has appealed to you as the real basis of your unusual vigor of mind and body, and has been to you an unfailing comfort through joy and sorrow?"

The old lady thought a moment, then lifting her eyes, dim with age, answered, briefly: "Victuals."

The man who refuses to see the evil of his way has just that much farther to travel back.

A PLACE IN THY MEMORY

A place in thy memory Dearest! Is all that I claim To pause and look back when thou hastest.

The sound of my name! Another may woo thee nearer; Another may win and wear; I care not though he be dearer, So I am remembered there!

Remember me not as a lover, Whom thou hast been crossed; Whose bosom can never recover The light it hath lost!

As the young bride remembers the mother She loves, though she ne'er may see, As a sister remembers a brother, O' dearest, remember me!

Could I be thy true lover, dearest! Couldst thou smile on me! I would be the fondest and dearest 'That ever loved thee!

But a cloud on my pathway is glooming The never must burst on thine, And heaven that made thee all blooming, Ne'er made thee to wither on mine.

Remember me then O! remember, My calm light, dear love! Though bleak as the blasts of November.

My life may here prove; That life will, though lone's, be sweet, If its brightest enjoyment should be! A smile, a kind word when we meet, And a place in thy memory!

—By Gerald Griffin.

Or bundle yourself in your wraps and furs, And come to the waiting sleigh, How the jingling bells fill the frosty air.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Patrons of this theatre will no doubt be pleased to know that the management has succeeded in securing the services of Edgar Foreman and Company for a 2nd week's engagement.

Mr. Foreman made a decided hit during the past week in his sketch "The Highway." Orr created a most favorable impression on all who attended. His offering for the present week will be a comedy playlet called "A Duel of Hearts" in which both are seen to excellent advantage. Those who have witnessed Mr. Foreman's entire repertoire pronounce this one the most entertaining and cleverest in every way. It is a bright and happy mixture of comedy and song that combine in making 30 minutes of most amusing entertainment. The piece will be adequately staged.

Mr. Grant and MacLennan are known as "Those Comedy Boys," their act is a leader in its class. This pair has an excellent line of humor, including bright stories and songs, cleverly handled by both.

Max Holden is a shadowgraph artist whose work is indeed clever. Those who have seen his act are unanimous in their opinion that it is clearly the best of its kind in present day vaudeville.

Miss Alice Bagley, the well-known vocalist, will be heard in new illustrated songs. The photographs for the first three days of the week will again include some of the biggest and best picture productions from the leading foreign and American manufacturers.

There will be dramatic offerings, comedy sketches and views that are instructive as well as entertaining. Remember that it's always cool and comfortable at this theatre and the show is continuous from 1 to 10:30 p. m. daily.

LAKEVIEW DANCE HALL

The best dancing floor within twenty-five miles of Boston is what you enjoy if you visit the Lakeview dance hall. For the surface there is as smooth as glass and is properly cared for by an expert. The music, too, compares with any rendered in this vicinity, and many novelty numbers are being introduced with excellent success.

One of the most pleasing dances at the hall is the "Moonlight Schottische" and as the management of the hall is ever ready to accept suggestions several requests that the "moon dance" be continued and for their benefit and also for others, this week the lights will be lowered and the large open face of Mr. Moon will illuminate the hall during the rendition of several numbers.

John X. Myers, the ball soloist, will give several new ones this week and as the trip to the park is one of the best rides on the railway system especially on these hot evenings the dancers should take advantage of the opportunity to dance where the surroundings are ideal and the facilities adequate.

THE KASINO

Up on the hill where the breezes blow, through the hall the dancers go gliding along as you know, on the smoothest of floors—The Kasino. Yes, dancing under ideal conditions is the attraction which the Kasino management has provided for Lowell people, and evidence of appreciation is found in the presence of thousands of people, young and old, afternoon and evening.

Two concerts are given daily, in which Roscoe McDaniell and James H. Buckley are the concert soloists, and the opening dance, afternoon and evening, is free to all.

In response to a popular demand, Old Timers' night will be repeated on Wednesday. This means a program embracing the old time melodies both in the concert and for dancing.

LOWELL POLICE The Lowell police team will go to Salem tomorrow morning, and will clash with the Salem team in a red hot ball game. Should Lowell carry off the honors they will easily cop the pennant.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

Considerable, at times, and much in the case of Howard's Dead Easy. It is a little non-poisonous bug-destroying compound that kills and keeps away the most stubborn of bugs, such as bed bugs, roaches, red ants, moths, etc. Will not stain or injure the most delicate fabric or color, has an agreeable air-purifying odor and is guaranteed by the maker, Howard, the druggist, 187 Central street.

PERFECTLY SIMPLE SIMPLY PERFECT

Eddy Refrigerator

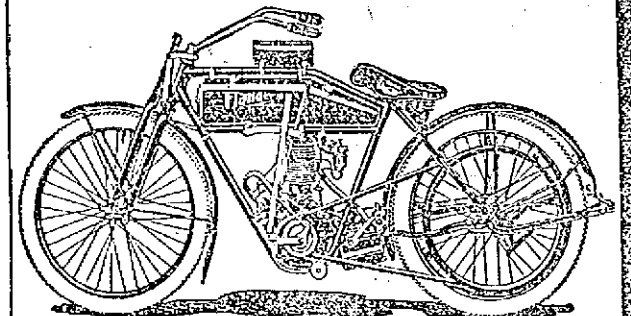

No frills of any kind. All its cost is put into thicker walls (double thick), and quality of lumber and zinc used, so that it keeps the food better, uses less ice, and wears from three to four times as long as other makes. It is nothing unusual to have people come in to buy an EDDY REFRIGERATOR who have had one for thirty and thirty-five years. One family had one since 1868, forty-four years. Of course, it had been re-lined. But he said that every door closed perfectly. There was not a part warped. Now isn't that the cheapest refrigerator to buy? They cost a little more to start with, but they pay for themselves many times over.
